RESEARCH STATION

London, April 15.

The existence of an Atomic Research station, staffed by German scientists, at a Spanish village, Portugaloto, five miles south of Bilbao, is reported by the "Daily Worker's" Special Correspondent in a despatch from Paris published today.

It says the factory is situated on a rocky, and almost inaccessible hill just outside the village, and is guarded night and day by special security police, the majority of whom the village report to be German-speaking.

"No one, I understand, is allowed anywhere near the plant, and workers sleep and take their meals within the factory grounds. Ladies travel to and from this secret hideout every day with heavily armed guards travelling beside the drivers. They never stop in the village, and it has been impossible to establish detailed information of their loads.

"Some 20 miles away lies the little port of Solario, which served as a secret supply base for German submarines during the war, and my information indicates a strong possibility that Solario's main use as a supply port for the factory," the correspondent writes.

U.S. TO INSIST IRAN
CASE BE HEARD

New York, April 15.

Sources close to the United States delegate to the United Nations Security Council, Mr. Edward Stettinius Junior, said yesterday he would take the leadership today in opposing the Russian move to have the United Nations Security Council drop the Iranian case.

These sources said that Stettinius would demand that the case be kept on the Agenda until May 6 as the delegates decided ten days ago. A check of the various delegations indicated that the United States would have enough support to block the Russian move.

The Soviet delegate, Andrei Gromyko, had already asked the Council in a letter to strike the Iranian case from its agenda without waiting until May 6 on which day Russia has agreed to have all her troops out of Iran.

The Council also has before it a letter from the Iranian Ambassador in Washington, Hussein Ala, demanding the rejection of the Russian request.

A dispatch from Teheran yesterday, however, said that Ala had been sent new instructions to inform the Council that Iran had no doubts that Russia's agreement would be "loyally and honorably carried out," and that the question of removing the case from the Agenda was "a question of procedure on which the Council itself must decide."

There was no immediate comment from Ala on whether he had received the reported instructions or whether he would withdraw or modify his previous position as a result.

Sources close to the United States delegation said the United States, like Iran, had no doubts that Russia would carry out her agreements.

The delegates generally believed the Iranian case would be disposed of today opening the way for the debate on the Spanish case later in the week. The Spanish case is based on Franco's charge that the Franco regime endangers world peace and is expected to take considerably more time. Associated Press.

Passers-by saw him being dragged screaming from the doorway of the house by three men. His face was running with blood.

He was bundled into the car and nothing has been heard of him since.

Misunderstanding
Over Billets

EXTRAORDINARY SCENES WERE WITNESSED IN KOWLOONTONG LATE YESTERDAY MORNING WHEN SEVERAL HUNDRED CHINESE SOLDIERS BROKE INTO EUROPEAN RESIDENCES AND, AFTER THREATENING THE OCCUPANTS, TOOK POSSESSION OF THE PREMISES. IT WAS NOT UNTIL EVENING THAT MOST OF THEM HAD BEEN MOVED OUT BY THE AUTHORITIES AND IN SOME CASES IT WAS NOT UNTIL A VERY LATE HOUR THAT THE LAST OF THEM HAD VACATED THE HOMES THEY SO SUDDENLY TOOK OVER AT THE POINT OF A GUN.

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT LATE LAST NIGHT EXPLAINED THAT THE WHOLE INCIDENT AROSE OUT OF A MISUNDERSTANDING AND THAT, AS SOON AS THE POSITION WAS MADE CLEAR TO THE CHINESE MILITARY AUTHORITIES, THE TROOPS WERE WITHDRAWN APART FROM THE NATURAL TENSION AT THE TIME. "CHINA MAIL" REPORTERS ON THE SCENE CONFIRMED THAT THERE WERE NO UGLY INCIDENTS AND THAT THE CHINESE SOLDIERS MOVED OUT WITHOUT CAUSING ANY FURTHER TROUBLE.

The trouble started shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Some 6,000 troops of the 18th Division of the 23rd Army, commanded by General Hau, arrived in Kowloon from Shum-chun to form up here preparatory to moving off by sea for North China on Friday. Apparently only 3,000 had been expected, and there was no accommodation available for the remainder.

Under the impression that the Kowloon-tong area had been earmarked for their use, the remaining 3,000 proceeded to move into civilian homes. The area affected comprised

Essex, Crescent northwards, houses in Stafford Road, York Road, Norfolk Road, Cumberland Road, Waterloo Road and Rutland Crescent being suddenly swamped by hordes of Chinese troops, including a number of junior officers and N.C.O.s.

Thirty Houses Entered

Over 30 houses were entered. In some cases, the troops managed to establish themselves before the inmates had got over their surprise. When an objection was raised, or some show of resistance put up, they brandished Tommy-puns, rifles and hand-grenades, broke down doors, and even clambered over garden walls.

Others established themselves in gardens and garages. In a short while, blue trails of smoke filled the air as open-air kitchens, made from bricks the soldiers brought with them, started cooking a midday meal.

The civilian police, reinforced by units of the British Army, the R.A.F. Police and Chinese officers, sped to the area. There were no ugly scenes, but the Chinese soldiers at first would not budge, and even in cases where some of them agreed to leave, either they or others returned immediately, the police pursued them.

A conference was held early yesterday evening between General G. W. Festing, G.O.C., Hong Kong, and General Hau, in command of the 23rd Chinese Division. Colonel H. Lucke, Chinese Army Liaison Officer in Hong Kong, was among those present.

between Generals Festing and Hau, it was agreed that the British would provide accommodation for the men in Shamshuipo today. Meanwhile, the troops were to vacate the premises they had occupied and would spend the night in the open air.

Interviewed by the "China Mail" after the conference, Colonel Lucke said that the whole incident arose through a misunderstanding on the part of the Chinese soldiers, who thought that the Kowloon-tong area had been assigned to them.

When the position had been explained to them, they moved out quietly, though some of them obviously did not relish changing the comfortable sitting rooms in which they were accustomed for the cold dampness of a night in the open.

RIOTS IN BUTTE

Butte, Mont, April 15.

Sleepless, jittery Butte surveyed today the wreckage of the second night of unbridled mob violence as leaders and public officials appealed to the people for calm and order. Saturday night and again last night gangs of men, women and teen-age boys armed with axes and travelling by truck and automobile roved the streets of this strike-bound copper mining community of 40,000 persons.

They ransacked the suburbs and unloaded at private houses to bash in windows and doors and throw wrecked furniture into yards. Two youths were wounded by gun-fire, the second one last night. Most of the houses damaged, the police chief and mayor said, were occupied by miners who stayed on the job on the "richest hill on earth," after a strike of 3,500 members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.U.M.S.W.) began on Tuesday.

The union strike committee declared, however, that neither the union nor its members are responsible for the disorders. A statement was issued by the committee calling on both union members and the general public to help maintain order. Officials of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, against whose mines the strike was called in a dispute over retroactive pay, have made no comment on the strikes.

The sheriff of this town said that women led some of the gangs which caused thousands of dollars worth of damage. A crowd of 3,000 or more persons witnessed one of the house-wreckings last night and the police are apprehensive over the future, although last night's disorders were not so widespread as those on Saturday. "Victorious" A
Passenger Ship

Colombo, April 15.

The 23,000-ton aircraft carrier "Victorious" has been in Colombo harbour on her way to Australia. She carried a number of civilian passengers to Australia and a few civilians also disembarked here.

This is said to be the first occasion when a large aircraft carrier has been allowed by the Admiralty to be used for transporting civilians.

There was also another duty which "Victorious" performed before reaching Australia. Somewhere in mid-ocean, she tipped overboard all the aircraft which were standing on the flight-deck. The planes formally carried by the aircraft carrier were removed before she left Devonport last month and the two dozen aircraft which were to be dumped were Corsairs, which were given to Britain under the Lend-Lease arrangements. America does not want the aircraft returned.

It is learned that a number of English aircraft engines were dumped overboard from "Victorious" on the trip to Colombo. "Victorious", which left England on her present trip on March 14 will, on her return voyage, carry several hundred civilians to the United Kingdom, who have gathered in Australia from all parts of the Pacific to wait for passage home. RATION WARNING

A warning that unless the world food situation improves there may be further cuts in the rations of Ruhr miners and further reductions in allocations of Ruhr coal to receiving countries was given by Mr. John Hymd, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, here today. Reuter.

Elizabeth To

London, Apr. 15.

Rumours circulating abroad that Princess Elizabeth would marry Prince Philip of Greece were denied by authorised quarters here today.

Climbed
Nelson's
Column

London, April 15.

The man who climbed Nelson's column on Saturday, Henry Taylor of Grosvenor Road, Hammersmith, 31-year-old ex-seaman, was fined 40 shillings at Bow Street today on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Dunkirk, evacuation, is now at the Athenium Club. The policeman who took Taylor into custody after his climb to the top of the Column, told the Magistrate Mr. McKenna, that the disorder consisted of Taylor's ascent.

Mr. McKenna asked Taylor: "Why did you do this?" Taylor replied: "I had the ambition to climb the Column and just felt that I would go up to have a look round."

Taylor left the dock smiling and was then met by a well-dressed middle-aged man who shook him warmly by the hand. The man pulled out a well-filled wallet and paid Taylor's fine, remarking: "You did the thing I had always wanted to do myself and I congratulate you." Reuter.

NEW GERMAN PARTY

Berlin, Apr. 15.

A joint meeting of 1,500 Berlin Socialist and Communist delegates today formally merged the two parties into a new "Social Unity" party and elected two presidents. The decision to effect the fusion—which is to apply in the Soviet Occupation Zone and Berlin—was taken yesterday by the Berlin District Committee of the Social Democrat Party.

It was not affected by the recent poll among Soviet Democrats in the French, British and United States zones of Berlin, when fusion with the Communists was rejected by 19,546 votes against 2,937. Reuter.

Invisible Ears And Eyes
Guide Train

(By Muriel Penn)

London, April 15.

Invisible ears—and eyes—which guide the railway engine driver through fog, tell him the position of other trains on the line, and automatically apply the brakes when the train approaches another on the same line or a signal that is against it, is the latest invention to prevent railway accidents.

This new system, based on electro-mechanical impulses transmitted by the railway lines themselves, can also be used by the crew or passengers for "telephone" conversations with persons on board another train or with any fixed point such as a station or signal box which is "tuned in" to "wavelength". Passengers can also talk to their offices simply by asking the station to put their call through on the ordinary Post Office telephone network to the number desired.

Professor Paul de Saint Quentin who invented the new system said: "A lightning stream fixed in the driver's cabin will show at a glance in different colours, the position of any train in front or behind for a distance of several miles." He said: "The system also shows the position whether at 'all clear or danger' of all signals

N. T. Rice Is To Be Issued In Kowloon

NEW TERRITORIES RICE IS TO BE ISSUED FOR KOWLOON FOR THE RATION PERIOD, APRIL 20-24. THIS IS TO MAKE UP FOR THE 100 PER CENT. BROKEN BANGKOK RICE WHICH HAD TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN KOWLOON FOR THE PERIODS, MARCH 31-APRIL 4, AND APRIL 10-14. IT IS PROPOSED TO ISSUE BANGKOK 5 PER CENT. 10 PER CENT. AND 15 PER CENT. BROKENS IN HONG KONG FOR THE PERIOD APRIL 23-27.

It has been disclosed that the last few shipments of rice from Bangkok have included a substantial quantity of 100 per cent broken rice which cannot be cooked as rice and can only be cooked into a paste or congee.

Representations have been made to the proper authorities in Bangkok, and it is hoped that future shipments may not contain such broken rice, or at least, not in such large quantities.

In order to amplify and explain the position of the flour ration announced last week, the Rice Controller has issued a further communique:

The official ration is 2 catties of rice and 1½ catties of flour per head every five days. On account of administrative difficulties involved in giving a combined ration in respect of the same period, what has been done during the past several weeks has been this:

Given Alternately

For one period of five days each person received four catties of rice, without flour. For the following period of five days each person received three catties of flour. In other words, the rice and flour ration were given alternately instead of in combination, the rice ration being in effect for ten days and the flour ration being in effect for ten days.

In respect of the coming periods for the flour ration (15/19 April for Kowloon and 18/22 April for Hong Kong), this ration has been reduced from three catties to two catties. This reduction was made by the Rice Controller in view of the actual stock available for these two periods.

A ship is now being unloaded, however, and supplies will be maintained.

Rice Rationing

A rumour in circulation yesterday that the authorities were contemplating an end to rice rationing was categorically denied by the Rice Controller (Mr. M. K. Lo) on enquiry.

"There is absolutely no foundation whatever for such a rumour," Mr. Lo told the "China Mail." The rumour appears to have arisen from measures being taken in a local dockyard for the collective handling of rice rations on behalf of the workers.

London To Cairo Rly.

Cairo, April 15.

A plan for a direct London to Cairo train service with ferry crossings of the English Channel and the Bosphorus (between Europe and Asia Minor) is envisaged by Kamal Bey, Deputy General Manager of the Egyptian Railways.

Already a Channel train ferry is running and plans for the Bosphorus ferry are well advanced. An important link will be the Haila-Beirut-Tripoli military railway, a single-gauge line built along the coast by South African and English forces during the war.

Kamal Bey believes that there will be a big future for this service among passengers who do not want to wait for ships and like the comfort of trains. Reuter.

No One-Sided
Sacrifices

Washington, April 15.

Britain is expected to suggest that the American plans for feeding Japan and the American zone in Germany are too extravagant and that the wheat and rice for these areas should be diverted when the Combined Food Board meets here today.

This will be in the nature of a counter proposal to the suggestion by the Director-General of the UNRRA, Florentino de La Guardia, that British reserves should be loaned to European countries. The British representative is expected to state that Britain is only prepared to release some of her wheat stocks if firm guarantees are given that they will be speedily replaced.

In London today, authoritative circles formally denied the American reports that Britain might yet ration bread in spite of her offer to do so, provided the United States followed suit.

Britain is still awaiting the official American reply to the bread rationing proposal and the official attitude in London is that Britain is not prepared to accept "onesided sacrifices." Reuter.

Smithfield
On Strike

London, Apr. 15.

In London today, troops arrived at the Smithfield provision market to ensure that the capital's food supplies are kept flowing, in spite of the week-old unofficial strike of 600 provision workers on wages demands.

The strikers today decided not to return to work until their demands are met, while the arrival of the soldiers was a signal for a serious new development in the form of a general walk-out of meat workers. These declared that they would not return to work until the troops are withdrawn. Reuter.

THE WEATHER

Today's forecast: Cloudy, with moderate easterly winds.

Yesterday's temperature, etc.:—Maximum—73.7 deg. at 5 a.m.; Minimum—63.6 deg. at 5 p.m.; Rainfall—A trace; Max. Humidity—45 per cent. at 7 a.m.

Peace Problem

When the Peace Conference meets in Paris shortly, one of the thorniest questions certainly will be the disposal of Trieste. The more one studies the various alternatives, the more convinced one is that the only just solution is for Trieste to be internationalised. This certainly is the view of a large majority of British and American observers who have studied the situation on the spot. Britain and America will have particular responsibility for ensuring that a just solution is reached. Their decision to occupy Trieste last May placed the two powers in a position to find the correct answer to the manifold problems of race and economics which are inherent in the situation. Prior to 1919, Trieste belonged to Austria for over 500 years. During the last century, it became one of the busiest ports in the Mediterranean, serving as one of the main channels for Central European trade. The countries which made the greatest use of its facilities were Austria, Hungary and Bavaria. After the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian Empire in 1919, Trieste and the province of Venezia Giulia were annexed by Italy. The Slovenian population of Venezia Giulia, which amounts to rather more than half the total population of 900,000 were no happier under the Italians than under the Austrians. Also, they were now separated from their brother Slovenes, who had been incorporated in the newly formed Yugoslavia. Meanwhile, Trieste declined in importance under Italian mismanagement and neglect. Its trade continued to be with Central Europe rather than with Italy or Yugoslavia, who today both claim it. Between the two wars, 8 per cent of Trieste's trade was Yugoslav, 12 per cent Italian, and the remaining 80 per cent Central European. It is clear, therefore, that on economic grounds neither Italy nor Yugoslavia can establish a satisfactory claim to Trieste. Ethnically, the situation is extremely complex. Whereas the population of Trieste and the coast of Venezia Giulia is over 80 per cent Italian, all the hinterland of the province is overwhelmingly Slovenian. Politics further complicate the issue. Some 10 per cent of the Italians are Communists, and their ideological prejudices prevail over racial preference—they would rather be under Tito than under the present Italian Government. On the other hand, some Slovenes, particularly the middle classes, would leave Venezia Giulia rather than stay under a Communist regime. It obviously would not be a satisfactory solution for Italy to have Trieste, and Yugoslavia the hinterland, though that would be ethnically correct. Trieste under that arrangement would be without communications to Central Europe, and would merely continue its commercial decline. If the Peace Conference were to decide in favour of international trusteeship, it would not be necessary to internationalise rail communications from Trieste to Central Yugoslavia. The United Nations could guarantee fair transit conditions for all goods into and out of Central Europe. The United Nations may have many awkward and insoluble problems dropped in their laps, but here is one in which they really would have a chance of achieving resounding success. All the expenses involved in the policing and occupation of Trieste could easily be raised by local taxation, the inhabitants of all races could feel absolutely secure, and Trieste might become a model of how to solve difficult racial and economic problems. Once the matter was settled, Italian and Yugoslav

Oil For The Lamps Of Russia

Power-politics overshadow Iranian oil production, a vital element in British economy and in the welfare of the Empire.

Apart from oil, Britain's commercial interests in Iran are greater than those of any other country.

Before the war the Empire's trade was 56 per cent of Iran's total.

But oil is the linchpin of the Empire, strategically as well as economically. The British-owned wells that produced 17,000,000 tons last year—an increase of 7,000,000 tons over pre-war production—mean life or death to Britain's Army, Navy, and trade. This oil, too, saves the foreign exchange that is so precious to Britain and goes a long way to satisfy the demands of all the stiff-necked-controlled areas.

Though production is now a British monopoly, no one could deny Russia, or any other nation, the right to prospect for oil on a normal, competitive basis and by arrangement with the Government of the Shah.

Now there is talk of oil and mineral concessions to the Soviet.

Has Russia, then, been using her undoubted strategic power in the Middle East to enter the world contest for oil beyond her own borders?

The Soviet before the war produced 30,000,000 tons of oil a year—11 per cent of the world's total, compared with Iran's 4 per cent.

But in the war years her domestic production suffered serious setbacks.

War Reduced Soviet Production

As the oil wells yield up their harvest and old wells go dry, the search for new wells must go on. An oilfield producing 1,000,000 tons a year might have to drill 200 exploration wells.

So when Russia was fighting for existence men and machines were short and drilling could not continue as before. And as the Germans trampled the land, bombing and shelling and scorched-earth tactics by the defenders destroyed equipment and reduced output to 25,000,000 tons last year.

Russia, perhaps, looks west and south—to the territories she occupies and to Iran—to meet her growing needs.

British, Dutch, and American companies have sought oil in Iran for many years, but they have sought it in open competition. The oilmen of the Soviet have not been to the fore, but now they are reported to have been exploring the northern provinces.

To understand the importance of Iranian oil you must know something about Middle East oil generally. To understand the potentialities of the Middle East, glance at the world oil story.

America, from 3,500 fields, has produced 4,250,000,000 tons—63 per cent of the world's oil—to date. Latest estimate puts reserves in the United States at approximately 3,000,000,000 tons.

This has been estimated by Dr. G. M. Lee, chief geologist of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., as, at the present rate of production of 240,000,000 tons a year, 12 years' supply.

This figure does not take account of new discoveries. For some years now the annual total of new oil found has exceeded the yearly production.

The total oil reserves of America, proved and estimated, may be greater than the proved reserves. Yet recent American estimates have not placed the figure higher than 15 years' supply.

But even if the reserves represented 30 or 60 years' supply, U.S. oil barons in the United States would still be seriously concerned. More and more America looks to the Middle East to secure control over oil reserves on a sufficient scale to safeguard her future supplies.

Four years ago a Washington-sponsored company planned to build a pipeline from the Persian Gulf across Arabia to the Mediterranean. But like the U.S. company already operating there did not see eye to eye with their Government and the project was dropped.

Then, in 1943, a technical oil mission, sponsored by the then Petroleum Administrator, Harold L. Ickes, surveyed the Middle East and reported that the proved reserves of the Middle East probably exceeded the total proved reserves in the U.S.

Since then the Middle East's proved reserves have been reported to the American Senate as 3,500,000,000 tons. Of the areas in which this oil is located, American interest controls 41 per cent of the concessions, British and Dutch interests 53 per cent, and others six per cent.

British Refinery The World's Biggest

Today American oil research in the Middle East is in the hands of the various private companies already operating and holding concessions.

Here is a picture of what countries own the oil concessions and what the proved reserves are: IRAQ: 60 per cent. British; 25 per cent. U.S.; 571,500,000 tons.

IRAN: 100 per cent. British; 867,000,000 tons.

KUWAIT (Persian Gulf): 50 per cent. British; 60 per cent. U.S.; 571,500,000 tons.

QATAR (Arabia): 100 per cent. British; 142,857,000 tons.

SAUDI ARABIA and BAHRÉIN ISLAND: 100 per cent. U.S.; 286,000,000 tons.

Little wonder that the Russian exports are worried about their

Beneath the diplomatic squabbling of the Great Powers over Iran flows an undercurrent of oil. Here is the background to Russia's bid for a bigger share in the world's resources—oil future and wondering whether Iran supplies the answer.

By GORDON NATTRASS

Outside Egypt, whose oil future is insignificant, Iranian development was first in the field, and the present output is more than 80 per cent of the Middle East total.

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's concession, derived from that obtained by Mr. William Knox D'Arcy in 1901, now covers 100,000 square miles in South-West Iran.

Oil was first found in commercial quantities in 1908, and in 1914 the British Government acquired a majority interest (65 per cent stock ownership) in the Ordinary share capital of the company.

The move was made to secure future oil supplies for the Admiralty.

A 120-mile-long pipe-line from this Iranian field served the company's refinery at the Shatt-al-Arab port of Abadan, the biggest refinery in the world, bigger even than the famous U.S. plant at Baton Rouge, Louisiana, which before the war produced 10,000,000 tons a year.

Iran Has Share Of Profits

The production of octane aviation spirit in the cracking plant at Abadan (about 1,000,000 tons a year) was one of the outstanding feats of the war.

At Kermanshah there is another, smaller, refinery which produces 100,000 tons a year. This plant receives its crude oil from the Naft-i-Shah, near the Naft Khaneh field of Iraq, and serves the markets of Northern Iran.

Iran's own share in the fruits of oil production is enormous. The royalty payment to the Iranian Government is 4s. (gold) per ton, which would realise an income of more than £6,000,000 on last year's production.

Anglo-Iranian's contribution to Iran during the war exceeded £4,000,000 a year—something like a quarter of the country's total revenue—to say nothing of the thousands of Iranians who find work in the oilfields, doing most of the routine construction and operational work.

More and more stress is being laid on the jobs the Iranians do. Training centres, colleges, and hospitals are springing up.

And as more and more of Iran's young men are educated so will their country's share in the development of the oilfields increase.

Obviously Russia wants to share in this development.

ANATOMY OF A FADING INCOME

Sir, I am an ordinary middle-class man whose income has remained static since 1937. I am married; I have two children. My salary is £400 a year.

Before the war my income tax was £23 (I grumbled at it). Rent and rates amounted to £70; family food cost £150; coal and light about £30; and I allowed £50 for clothes.

That left about £275 for holidays, doctors, amusements, the car, wages (the "daily woman" three half-days a week), and savings. It was a tight squeeze, and we used to say our income fitted us like a mitten rather than a glove, but we made both ends meet.

But no sooner do you make both ends meet than somebody moves the ends. I have precisely the same salary, but look at my state today.

My £23 income tax has gone up to £21 1s. 6d. and will stand, with next month's cuts, at £20 15s. My rent (I am lucky to be still in my pre-war house) is the same.

Coal has gone up 100 per cent—from £2 per ton to £4. My suit, which used to cost me £8 8s., has gone up 100 per cent—to £16 16s.

The food, for which we queue, spending an average of 1½ woman-hours a day instead of 15 minutes on the telephone, has gone down in both quantity and quality, although it has not increased appreciably in price.

But one the rock-bottom necessities of life I am spending £625 out of my £400.

We have abandoned the daily help for a car, who obliges (when in the mood) for two hours a week; but she gets 2s. 6d. an hour instead of 1s.

The car is a thing of the past. I cannot afford to buy a new one even if I were prepared to wait for months and then even on the "never" power. The second-hand car I used to buy for £25 is now quoted at £350—or more.

But even if I still had my old car my motorising would cost double. My horse-power tax on 15s. to 25s., petrol which cost 5d. a gallon now costs 1s. 11d.

And I can drive on the basic ration only 40 miles a week instead of the 200 I used to cover.

My ten cigarettes a day used to cost me 6d. They are 1s. 2d. now. I used to keep a bottle of whisky in the house—one used to last us a month. We still get one a month, but it costs £1 5s. 6d. instead of 12s. 6d.

We used to spend a fortnight at the sea; and for that holiday for the four of us I used to budget carefully: 24 guineas for board and lodging and 25 for extras.

To get the same this summer would (not will, for I shall not be able to afford to go) cost me £50 instead of £30.

One of my pleasures during my holiday was a glass of stout in the morning. It cost me 8d.; now it is 1s. 1d. I liked to buy the boy a spade and bucket; 6d. for the spade is 1s. for the bucket. To day, 2s. 6d. for a spade that breaks after two days and 3s. for a bucket that leaks.

On my wife's birthday and our wedding anniversary we used to go to the West End for dinner, a theatre, or a film. Our 4s. dinner with a bottle of wine used to cost £1; our 2s. 6d. dinner (our fare another 6s.) used to cost 10s. 6d.

This year I kept up the tradition: it was to celebrate peace. My cinema seats were 4s. 6d. each; the bottle of wine we couldn't afford was £3; the dinner was 6s. instead of 4s. (and worse); there was a "cover charge" of 1s. a head; my railway fares (no chapeau returns now) were up by 60 per cent.

The present I always liked to give the wife at Christmas was a good handbag. I used to pay about 30s. for it. Last Christmas I bought a dud for £3.

I used to have my lunch in the City for 2s. Now the price is 3s. 6d.

I'm wearing pre-war shoes, and if I send them to the cobbler for a re-sole and heel I wait for a month, and pay 3s. 6d. I used to pay 6s. 6d., and get them back in three days.

If I bought a pair of new shoes I spent about 25s. Today I must spend a couple of guineas.

You must be tired of letters about laundry costs—my wife is neither young enough, strong enough, nor has she the equipment to do all the washing at home. Our bill is up by the 50 per cent tax, and if I haven't checked by my old laundry book I believe the items have gone up a little as well.

Also, post-war laundry doesn't stay clean as long as pre-war. The Radio League is in to be

TODAY IN EUROPE

Washington — When Lord Halifax is replaced by Sir Archibald Clark Kerr as British Ambassador in Washington, the post of Ambassador in Paris will be the only one in Great Britain's foreign service not held by a professional diplomat. It is true that Alfred Duff Cooper, who has held the Paris post since the liberation of France, started as a professional diplomat, but his appointment to France was essentially a political one.

By RANDOLPH CHURCHILL

Forces are now at work to remove Duff Cooper from the Paris Embassy. Part of this agitation comes from extreme Socialist Members of Parliament, such as Konni Zilliacus, who would like to see Duff Cooper removed merely because he is a Conservative. Other forces working against him are those inside the Foreign Office, while they do not object to the Paris post being held by a Conservative, think a professional diplomat should have the job.

Zilliacus and his group would remove, if they could, a large number of professional diplomats and replace them with Socialist appointees. This group, many of whom are crypto-Communists, have been most bitter in their denunciation of recent appointments inside the diplomatic service.

They were delighted when Sir Reginald Leeper, whom, grotesquely enough, they regard as a Fascist, was removed as Ambassador to Greece but they were horrified when he was assigned to Argentina. The appointment of Sir Alexander Cadogan, Permanent Under-Secretary in the Foreign Office, to be Britain's permanent representative in U.N.O. also aroused their ire. And they were even more displeased when Cadogan's job in the Foreign Office was taken over by Sir Orme Sargent.

Sargent, a diplomat of the old school, undoubtedly is somewhat old-fashioned in his outlook. But he has a caustic sense of humor which has endeared him to all his colleagues. When Neville Chamberlain returned from Munich, Sargent and other Foreign Office officials watched the scene in Downing Street from the roof of the Foreign Office. Disgusted by the unthinking delight with which the crowd applauded Chamberlain, Sargent turned to a friend and said, "You might suppose they were celebrating a major victory instead of merely the betrayal of a minor country."

The Left-wing desire to see Britain represented abroad by Socialists is based on the naive, untutored view that there should be no continuity in foreign policy. These Socialists would like to implement what they describe as a "progressive" foreign policy, based essentially on co-operation with other like-minded countries. What these minded babes in the wood fail to realize is that the permanent long-term interests of the British Empire do not change from day to day but require essentially the same policy for defense, whatever Government may be in power.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, to his credit, realizes this. He knows there is no short-cut to the establishment of world peace—that it is a cause which must be worked for over many long months and years. Bevin has now been in the Foreign Office for seven months and has found time to have consultations with nearly all of Britain's representatives abroad. Almost without exception, he has been satisfied with their capabilities and is convinced they are loyally carrying out his policy.

Therefore he is turning a deaf ear to extremist agitation knowing full well that loyal service from subordinates can be obtained only by similar loyalty on the part of the chief, he is resisting the campaign which, if successful, could only succeed in destroying the unity and traditions of the British diplomatic service, which, whatever its faults in the eyes of Zilliacus, is regarded by nearly all foreigners as being unsurpassed in the world.

BY THE WAY

By BEACHCOMBER

Captain Foulencough, who seems to be going through one of his periods of intense social activity, is now at Shillville Hall, in Wigtownshire.

Hearing a crash in the middle of the night, his host, Sir Archibald McCaber, came downstairs. He found the Captain searching a small cupboard in the dining-room. "What is it?" he asked. "I thought I saw a ghost," said the Captain, "and I followed it." "Only a very small ghost could get into that cupboard," said his host. "It was the ghost of a baby," said the Captain. "It could hardly walk." "Hum," said Sir Archibald pensively.

The Strabismus Expedition

Latest cable: Landed at Quintana de Brayo on the eastern coast of Yucatan, and struck inland for the tiny settlement of San Bartolome de la Villa Hermosa de los Fueros del Rio de Lagartos. Unloaded stores and engaged native porters for the long trek to Popocatepetl. Inhabitants danced the old Maya dance, the tzatzitza, in our honor. Strabismus let them look at Aubergine de la Goudronerie-Roufflaquette through his telescope. They kept on crying "Chiquimula! Champerico!" and gave her hemp and vanilla and little hats made of chlapo. Doubled.

I used to keep a dog until rationing made it impossible; but a puppy today would cost me nearly £10, unless I went to a dog's home.

One of our hobbies is a game of cards in the evening with two friends. But even that costs more today. You can't get a good pack of cards for less than 9s.—I used to spend 1s. 6d.

As I see it, we shall become not the new poor—we were the old shabby-genteel—but the new slums. If, indeed, we survive at all. (Many withheld requests.)

fessor Slopper gave them his monograph on the Dzibeen dialect of the Huahua Indians. Wolf hounds bit two mayors.

Glut Of Houses

At last some way has been discovered by which the superfluity of houses can be dealt with. A number of houses and farms are to be destroyed at Bristol to make room for a runway for an air-liner. That is a mere beginning. Obviously the solution of the housing problem is to have bigger air-liners. Then there would be no point in building houses for which there was no room.

Not Lantern-Metal This Time

While the Gallup poll people were asking Mrs. Dulcie Bilboud whether she was for or against democracy in Korea a Social Investigator argued to measure the space available for the Regional Assessor who is to be billeted on her. An official who had called to ask her why she had no aunt or uncle living with her was in the dining-room. In the kitchen was another official who wished to know details of her amusements. In the hall was the official who had some to weigh her hens for statistical purposes. To each Mrs. Bilboud said courteously, "I suppose it is about lantern-metal," and was met by indignant denials.

LIVERPOOL COTTON BLAZE

Thirteen thousand bales of cotton, worth over £300,000, were damaged today by fire at one of the largest sorting depots in Lancashire—the inland sorting depot of Mersey Docks and Harbour Board at Kirby—12 miles from Liverpool.

A mass of twisted girders lies tonight across a heap of cotton smouldering among debris. Also damaged were two to three hundred jeeps and three-ton vehicles and several air compressors. Several sheds packed with general merchandise were saved as the flames were blown away from them. No one was injured.

Forms! They Have Their Uses

When we think of Red Tape, most of us see Forms, and then we see red.

Forms can be misused. They often are; but they can be useful, even essential. They can also be a safeguard to the citizen.

Dry pedantic and ill-designed, they are a bore: we are not interested. We don't fill them in and they fail in their purpose. With humanity behind the brain that conceives them, they can quicken the imagination, gain clear replies and show "The Shape of Things to Come."

Simplicity is the soul of forms. They do three things—give evidence, discover quantities and quantities and serve personal and public purposes.

The simplest form ever devised is the postage stamp. This tiny form takes any letter anywhere, collected, carried and delivered.

If you want your particular letter specially delivered with individual care and certainty, another little form—Registration—will go with it and get a receipt. The Postmaster-General has only to point up the stamps sold and he will have a good idea how many letters have been carried and can check his "takings."

Personal and public service is thus provided. When Tommy Tucker's birth is registered, a form of certificate is issued which serves him all his life. It proves his age. It admits him to and releases him from school, it entitles him to his vote and finally gives him his pension.

agitation almost certainly would wither and, if any trouble were fomented from outside, the United Nations would be in a position to hold the trouble-makers accountable before all the nations of the world.

SAYS REX PEIRS

That is the personal service. But if the Government wants to know how many houses and schools are needed, the certificates of birth and death will help.

From them can be estimated not only the number of houses and schools wanted, but the number of bricks, chimneys, blackboards, atlases and what-not, and also how many workers will be required to make them.

Then, let me remind you of Mr. Bullyseub, the official at the Ministry of Total Security. You know his glare and his overbearing manner.

Do you think you would get your rights if his was the last word? Not likely!

Be glad, therefore, that you have filled in forms. They are in your file. You can appeal. In the last resort you can write to your M.P. who can put a question in the House.

The Minister must make inquiry. He will send for your file, and those forms—the evidence will be there for your justification and protection.

Ministers are asked daily a diversity of questions in Parliament. Civil Servants prepare most of the answers on the basis of thousands of forms filled in by people in all walks of life.

Good government, like good business, is wise planning based on accurate information. So the Civil Servant seeks facts from mines, mills, movies, men, money and the rest, and the Minister's answers are based on them and so is much of Government policy.

For instance, the amount of food grown here plays a part in the planning of the number of people given the amount of the ration available for each person. So the forms that give you and me, the farmer and the importer, a headache may prevent a national bellyache.

It is not only governments and other authorities that use red tape and its forms. A Parliamentary candidate is often asked by local political organizations to sign a form called a questionnaire.

If he does so, thus supporting a certain policy, and then as a Member votes for a different policy, he can be confronted with his signature and, perhaps, accused of hoodwinking the electors. Thus the citizen safeguards himself.

What we call Red Tape is therefore not necessarily a bad thing. Rather, it is a good thing which may be misused—like the aeroplane or atomic energy. No system is perfect and no man is infallible. Watch for imperfections and failings, and be quick to correct them; but don't, in ignorance throw out the baby with the bath water.

When next you have a form to fill in, pause and consider its purpose. You will then complete it intelligently. You will have discovered long ago that there is pleasure in doing things intelligently.

BRITISH MISSION TO MIDDLE EAST

London, April 14. The primary goal of a Board of Trade goodwill mission which will leave for Iraq and other Middle East countries next week is to "encourage interest in the United Kingdom as a source of supply for both capital equipment and consumer goods."

The mission will be gone six weeks. Other countries to be visited, in addition to Iraq, are Syria, Lebanon and Cyprus. The mission will be led by Lord Davidson, director of many industrial firms, including Dorman, Long & Co., Ltd., constructional engineers.—Associated Press.

Vatican Accused By Russians

London, Apr. 15. The Moscow radio yesterday quoted three leaders of the Uniat church of the Western Ukraine, which voted recently to sever its 350-year-old tie with the Roman Catholic church, as accusing the Vatican of "just for power and satanic pride."

A broadcast of a Tass dispatch said the three churchmen were in Moscow to "consolidate loyalty" to the Russian Orthodox church, which the Uniat church rejoined after breaking with Rome.

Tass said the churchmen denied Vatican statements that the Uniat assembly which voted for the break lacked authority to take such action. The Sacred Congregation of the Oriental Church at the Vatican had said the assembly "probably was headed by a few apostate priests."

"Assertions of the Catholic press to the effect that the assembly was preceded by mass arrests of the clergy do not correspond to the facts," the broadcast said. It added, however, that Metropolitan Slepoy and four bishops were arrested in April, 1945, nearly a year after the assembly, for their active treacherous work as accomplices of German occupiers, and still await trial before a military tribunal.—Associated Press.

Dr. Quo Is Optimistic

New York, Apr. 15. After steering the United Nations Security Council through almost a month of stormy sessions, largely by dead reckoning in the absence of other guidance, Dr. Quo Tsi-chi, an old League of Nations hand from China, feels encouraged over the future of the world's new peace-keeping arm.

"At least the results thus far have not been negative," Dr. Quo said as he prepared to hand over the reins on Wednesday to Dr. Hafez Attili Pasha of Egypt.

Quo has been chairman since the Council opened its first American session March 25. It was the fate of rotation that placed him in the position. Attili Pasha is a complete newcomer to the Council's deliberations, having arrived last week to replace the Egyptian minister to Washington, Mahmoud Hassan Pasha, as his country's delegate to the council.—Associated Press.

A People's Budget

London, Apr. 15. The Left-wing "Reynolds News" editorially stated today that Mr. Hugh Dalton's budget continued Labour's policy of re-directing Britain's economy in the interest of the people, rather than in the interests of finance.

"In lightening the burden of direct taxation imposed by war, the Chancellor has begun with millions who can least afford to pay. His decision to spend £235,000,000 on price subsidies to keep up the purchasing power of wages and take the Purchase Tax off many household necessities is even more welcome than lower entertainments tax for sports."

The "Sunday Observer" said that Mr. Dalton's announcement of a national land fund and of new measures for taking land in payment of death duties meant extension of the "far-reaching social trend."—Reuter.

BELGRADE RECOGNISES REPUBLICANS

Belgrade, April 15. Yugoslavia has decided to recognize the Spanish Republican government as the "only legitimate government of Spain."

Yesterday morning's newspapers said that the Yugoslav government is ready to establish regular and normal relations with the Spanish republican government. The action was taken on the basis of a proposal from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the exile government.—Associated Press.

SYDNEY DEATH SENTENCE

Sydney, April 15. Two Japanese officers were sentenced by military tribunal to be hanged for the murder of two Indian prisoners of war in November 1944.

A Japanese corporal was found innocent of having taken part in the killings.—Associated Press.

Firouz Threatens Censorship

TEHRAN, APRIL 15. DESCRIBING CERTAIN FOREIGN NEWS REPORTS WHICH CLAIMED THAT "A BIG REVOLT" HAD BROKEN OUT IN ISFAHAN AS "RIDICULOUS AND FANTASTIC," PRINCE FIROUZ, OFFICIAL SPOKESMAN FOR THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT, YESTERDAY WARNED NEWSPAPERMEN THAT IRAN "MAY BE OBLIGED TO CONSIDER THE INTERNATIONAL TELEGRAPH REGULATIONS WHICH GIVE THE GOVERNMENT THE RIGHT NOT TO FORWARD SUCH DISPATCHES."

SUCH "PROVOCATIVE REPORTS," PRINCE FIROUZ ADDED, WERE NOT ONLY "BASELESS" BUT ALSO "THREATEN TO CAUSE PANIC."

Prince Firouz said that the Iranian government had asked the "representatives of the Azerbaijani people" to confer with the Central Government representatives and that "conferences probably will open at Karaj in the very near future."

Trade Union officials at the Tudeh party headquarters yesterday said that their first reports on Saturday of labour-management clashes in Isfahan were exaggerated, but that one man was to have been killed and 23 wounded.

"Reactionary Elements" An official at the Tudeh headquarters charged that "the worst reactionary elements in the city were led by wealthy landowners and manufacturers and armed by a foreign power" who were conducting attacks against the Union and Party meetings in an attempt to prevent the organization of the workers. He claimed that 5,311 Union members were wounded in the past year.

A Rightist deputy from Isfahan said that "daily clashes occur between government officers and the radical labour group which has seized control of the principal factories." He said that Premier Qavam Es Sultani had sent a personal representative to the area and had asked the Tudeh party to instruct Taghi Fardkar, Union organizer, now in Isfahan, to return to Tehran, but Tudeh officials said that Fardkar had been ordered yesterday to proceed to Yazd "to organize the workers there."—Associated Press.

Temper Rising

London, April 15. The Tehran correspondent of the "News Chronicle" reported today that the "first sign of impending flare-ups throughout Iran as general election tempers rise."

There has been bloodshed in the second capital and manufacturing city of Isfahan, 250 miles south of Tehran, according to the report. In 48 hours' rioting, the Left-wing "Tudeh Party"—trade unionists—have won a victory over the Right-wing union men who were, hitherto, in the saddle. About 15,000 mill workers were involved in the change over. Early reports say that one man was killed and 20 were injured, added the correspondent.—Reuter.

Peruvian Rioting

Lima, Apr. 15. Part of the offices of the Lima newspaper "La Prensa" was wrecked, files destroyed and typewriters and money taken by a crowd which attacked the offices last night, an executive of the newspaper stated today.

He said the crowd dispersed a group of housewives demonstrating against the high cost of living before attacking the building.

Shots were fired and the attackers shouted "Down with reaction" and "Long live APRA" (one of the parties represented in the Peruvian Government).—Reuter.

SOVIET WORKERS SLACKISH

London, Apr. 15. The Moscow radio today broadcast an editorial complaint by "Pravda" that the "workers' output as compared with pre-war levels has fallen considerably in some Soviet industries."

The broadcast, heard here by the Associated Press, especially mentioned the Don Basin coal fields where "Pravda" said as much as 85% of the machinery is lying idle. The newspaper also said that the oil industry and others were "getting slackish in their work" and called upon the trade unions "to see that production is going according to plan."—Associated Press.

"Year Of Confusion" For Truman

Washington, Apr. 15. The Republican national committee, leadership of the leading minority party, yesterday described President Truman's first year as "President as one of 'confusion' in all fields. It said it is the natural reflection of the man who did not wish to be President. The record of Mr. Truman's year as President is a record of confusion—confusion in international relations, confusion in national affairs and confusion throughout the Administration."

The Committee said the President "has made high sounding statements on foreign policy but these are in contrast from the actions which he approves."—Associated Press.

Smithfield Strike

London, Apr. 15. Representatives of the 550 unofficial strikers on the provision section of London's largest market, Smithfield, will meet Ministry of Labour officials tomorrow morning, a Ministry of Food official said tonight.

Three thousand meat workers at the market threatened yesterday to join the strike if troops were brought in to handle goods in the provision section of the market, where the strike has already been imperilling London's rations for five days.

An official of the Food Ministry said: "On the outcome of that meeting rests the action to be taken." He added that no statement had been made about bringing in troops to deal with the work.

The strikers, including 100 women, want an increase of pay of 5/- a week instead of the proposed award of 3/- a week.—Reuter.

Britain Asked For Further Sacrifices

Washington, Apr. 15. U.N.R.R.A.'s only hope of getting grain into Europe's low-stocked countries was by diverting supplies from the British Isles, the former New York Mayor, Fiorello LaGuardia, director-general of U.N.R.R.A., declared today.

In a message to Mr. Philip Noel Baker, the British Minister of State, who led the British delegation at the recent European Cereals conference in London, Mr. LaGuardia appealed to Britain to spare grain from her limited stocks to speed U.N.R.R.A. aid to Europe.

Backing Britain in her demand that guarantees of United States replenishment of British stocks must be given before she could consent to their temporary reduction, Mr. LaGuardia said, "I understand the critical food situation in Britain, and I fully appreciate that we must have tangible proof of the available wheat to replace any advance which will be made this next month, to meet the crisis in the countries affected."—Reuter.

Chief Factor In Europe's Hunger

(By DEWITT MACKENZIE)

NEW YORK, APRIL 15. MUCH IS BEING REPORTED CONCERNING THE PLAGUE OF HUNGER SWEEPING EUROPE AND ASIA WITH INCREASING INTENSITY. BUT CURIOUSLY LITTLE IS BEING SAID ABOUT ONE OF THE CHIEF CONTRIBUTING FACTORS—BLACK MARKET.

EXPERTS OF 18 NATIONS ARE MEETING IN LONDON TO FIGURE OUT METHODS OF MEETING THE FOOD CRISIS. BUT NO MATTER WHAT PROGRESS IS MADE ALONG OTHER LINES THE PROBLEM WILL BE FAR FROM SOLVED UNLESS WAYS ARE FOUND DEALING WITH THE BLACK MARKET WHICH FATTENS ON THE SUFFERING AND STARVATION OF THE UNFORTUNATE.

Black-markets can be largely harnessed by vigorous measures as being demonstrated by England and Switzerland.

I spent a lot of time in France recently and there is no doubt that she is in grave need of foodstuffs from abroad. The legitimate markets are short of stocks but the black markets are booming in every part of the country.

In fact, France is one vast black market. Even school children are acting on a large scale.

The unhappy French housewife, with a book of food coupons, stands for hours in the long queue and when finally she reaches the counter of the shop it probably is bare.

Running Gauntlet

But during her painful progress she has run a gauntlet of black marketers. They stand in doorways and mutter: "Want some beef? Want some chicken? Want some butter?" If the housewife has money for exorbitant prices she can buy from these scum. But she probably does not have the money.

You can buy steaks with trimmings in swaggar hotels and restaurants if you have the money. But the little man and his flock go hungry.

Obviously, these black market operations cannot be wiped out overnight but they certainly could be dealt a heavy blow if the authorities would go all out against them.—Associated Press.

THE MONKEYS' RODE

London, Apr. 15. Frightened monkeys had a taxi ride over the Pyrenees, while elephants, crossed the mountains on foot, when a Swiss circus was caught in Spain by the closing of the frontier with France, Swiss Radio said today.

Unable to use the railway, horses and dogs crossed the frontier without any incident on foot, but monkeys, who were nervous at the unfamiliar sight of snow, had to be transported in taxis.—Reuter.

Agreement Will Be Carried Out

Teheran, April 15. Propaganda Minister Mozaffar Firouz said yesterday that Hussein Ala, the Iranian Ambassador to the United States, has been instructed to inform the United Nations Security Council that Iran "has no doubts" that the terms of the Russian-Iranian agreement will be "loyally and honourably carried out."

Firouz said that the new instructions issued to Ala told him that it is up to the Council itself to decide if the Iranian case is to remain on its Agenda.

"The instructions have been telegraphed to Ala," Firouz said, and they are to "the effect that he is to inform the Security Council that on the conclusion of the Soviet-Iranian agreement, it was agreed that Soviet troops would evacuate all of Iran by May 6. He was also instructed at the same time, to inform the Security Council that the Iranian Government had no doubts that the terms of the agreement will be loyally and honourably carried out."

Asked if the instructions meant that the Iranian case would be removed from the Security Council's Agenda, Firouz said: "That is a question of procedure on which the Council itself must decide."—Associated Press.

BRITAIN OPPOSES SEPARATE PEACE

London, Apr. 15. A Foreign Office spokesman said yesterday that Britain would oppose any attempt by individual Allied nations to conclude separate peace treaties with former Axis countries in event of a breakdown of the Paris peace conference.

The spokesman said the United States agreed with Britain on this. He added that a separate British or American peace with Italy or any other of the Axis nations would fail to give "the finality and assurance needed for their reconstruction."—Associated Press.

ARGENTINA HELPS

Buenos Aires, Apr. 15. Foreign Minister Juan Cooke said yesterday Argentina would put at the disposal of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration when pool before May 31 the remaining 120,000 tons of her 150,000-ton donation of wheat. A delivery of 30,000 tons of wheat was made recently.—Associated Press.

Demand For British Break With Franco

Bristol, Apr. 15. A demand that the British Government should immediately sever all relations with the Franco regime, in Spain, was made by speakers at a conference held in Bristol today, by the West of England Emergency Committee in Aid of Democratic Spain.

Mr. W. F. Bruce, Parliamentary Private Secretary to the Ministry of Health, and Labour Member of Parliament, called for "sharp thorough and clean breaks" with Franco. "I cannot understand," he said, "how a democratic government—indeed a socialist democratic government—can possibly continue to dirty its hands by maintaining relations in any form at all."

A resolution was unanimously carried, asking the government, in harmony with the United Nations, to break off diplomatic and trading relations with Franco's Spain and support forces of Republican Spain.—Reuter.

THOSE BRITISH AGAIN

London, Apr. 14. Moscow radio said yesterday that "self-seeking" British financial interests are discriminating against democratic countries in eastern Europe while expanding trade with Spain in an effort to prolong the Franco regime. It said "The doctoredness with which certain British circles defend the Franco regime can be traced to the same sources as the support some people in Britain give to anti-democratic forces in Greece."—Associated Press.

CORRESPONDENCE

Chinese Troops

Sir,—I read in the "China Mail" of some Chinese soldiers taking a detective's gun from him. I should like to know since when the Chinese army took over the policing of Kowloon.

I ask because this is the second time in two days I have had occasion to wonder. On the first occasion, two policemen had held of a rickshaw coolie for obstructing the street and making himself a nuisance. They were told by two Chinese Army officers to let him go, which they promptly did.

I don't think we have need of a police force if this is to be the way of things.

Money Mart

Chinese national currency weakened over the week-end and opened yesterday morning at HK$240 to CN$1,000 for future and $2.47 for spot. There was little buying or selling and the market closed at $2.41 and $2.51 respectively.

Gold also fell over the week-end. Yesterday it opened at $426 per tael and dropped to $420 at the close.

U.S. dollars had buyers at $4.66 for large notes and $4.60 for small. English Sterling eased off to $16.70, while Australian pounds were unchanged at $12.50.

Highlight of the money market at the moment is the defunct Military Yen. These notes had gone up to HK$4. per MY1,000 about a week ago, following demand from Macao. Then it fell to about $2.50. Since the announcement of the setting up of a War in the Colony, new life has been instilled into these notes. Many money-changers' shops have put up "Military Yen Bought Here" signs, and have been paying as high as $2.30 per MY1,000. Yesterday's business was done on the Exchange at $3.00 per MY1,000.

EXCHANGE RATES

Shanghai, Apr. 15.

Closing exchange rates on the Shanghai market today were:

Gold per ounce: buying, CN$169,000; selling, CN$165,000.

US dollar in unofficial market: buying, CN$202; selling, CN$204.

Hong Kong: old note, buying, CN$390; selling, CN$399; new note, buying, CN$380; selling, CN$390.—Associated Press.

HAND CART OUT OF CONTROL

Pan So, of No. 41, Connaught Road Central, was brought before Mr. George She at the Summary Military Court yesterday charged with hiring out a hand truck without an efficient brake.

Accused was fined $50 and ordered to pay $50 compensation to rickshaw coolies who were injured as a result of accident.

According to Traffic Inspector J. E. H. Hadden, a hand truck loaded with four bundles of leather weighing about 300 pounds each, coming down along Wyndham Street about 10.30 a.m. on Sunday, skidded and lost control, crashed into two rickshaws and injured two coolies.

One of the coolies, Ng Pan, 42 was pinned underneath the truck while another coolie Lu Chiu, was slightly injured.

Five coolies who were pulling the hand truck were also charged with using a truck without a brake. They were each fined $10 and ordered to pay $10 compensation to the injured.

CAPT. SURTEES LEAVING

Captain V. N. Surtees, D.S.O., R.N. of H.M.S. Nabachor will be leaving the Colony within a few days in H.M.S. Trafalgar to take up an appointment in Japan with the British Commonwealth Occupation Force. Captain Surtees has served in the Fleet Air Arm throughout the war.

He has been in Hong Kong and the China Station several times. In 1920 he was in H.M.S. Hawkins, in H.M.S. Emerald in 1926 and in H.M.S. Polesfield and H.M.S. Suffolk while these ships were stationed here.

The new C.O. of H.M.S. Nabachor will be Commander H. G. Walters, D.S.O., R.N.

Among the passengers who left by CNAC plane for Shanghai on Sunday last was Mr. Philip Gockchin, on the first stretch of his journey to Nanking where he will represent the Chinese community of Hong Kong at the National Assembly to be held on May 5.

The guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Hong Kong luncheon today at 12.45 p.m. at the Gloucester Hotel, 1st floor, will be Mr. C. Bernard Brown, and his subject "How I Saved My Life."

For smothering a wrist watch from a Chinese woman So Fung-chun in Southern Street near Shing Street, Wn. King was sentenced to two months' hard labour by Mr. A. A. Arnold at the Summary Military Court yesterday.

Guerilla Chief May Give Evidence

ENDEAVOURS ARE BEING MADE TO OBTAIN THE ATTENDANCE IN COURT OF THE GUERRILLA CHIEF, SIU TING-LOI, A PERSONALITY ALREADY SEVERAL TIMES MENTIONED IN THE TRIAL OF GEORGE WONG. IT WAS STATED BY MR. M. A. DA SILVA YESTERDAY AT THE CLOSE OF THE AFTERNOON SESSION OF THE HEARING.

IN ASKING FOR AN ADJOURNMENT, SHORTLY BEFORE FIVE O'CLOCK, WITHOUT HAVING CONCLUDED HIS CROSS-EXAMINATION OF THE ACCUSED, MR. DA SILVA SAID THAT HE COULD NOT CONCLUDE THE CROSS-EXAMINATION FOR SEVERAL REASONS. THESE WERE THAT INQUIRIES WERE STILL GOING ON ABOUT THE PAPERS THE ACCUSED CLAIMED HAD BEEN FOUND AT HIS HOUSE BY CAPTAIN LEE AND ENDEAVOURS WERE BEING MADE TO LOCATE SIU TING-LOI.

As Wong heard Mr. Silva's statement, he said through the Court Interpreter that Siu Ting-loi had nothing to do with the affair and that the guerillas to be sought as witnesses were Siu Dak-keung, who, he said, was now in Lung Kong, and Siu Dak-ching.

It was stated in evidence by William Lee at an earlier session of the trial that Wong had told him in 1943 that he had been imprisoned by the Japanese in April, 1943, on suspicion of his having participated in the escape of Siu Ting-loi with 30 other guerillas. Wong, in his statement on oath said that he was imprisoned for having assisted in the escape of guerillas but denied that Siu Ting-loi was one of them.

At the commencement of the Court's sitting yesterday afternoon, the President of the General Military Court, Mr. Leo d'Almeida e Castro, said that the attention of the Court had been drawn by Mr. Hin-shing Lo, the defending counsel, in chambers, to an article that had appeared in the morning's issue of the "Wah Chi Yat Po."

Improper Article

The article, Mr. d'Almeida said, was a most improper article and he had been told by Mr. da Silva that the suggestion that he had given an interview to the "Wah Chi Yat Po" or to any other paper was untrue. The Court condemned the article as highly improper and the publication of an article of the type constituted a criminal offence. The matter was being referred to the attention of the Public Prosecutor.

When the morning's hearing commenced yesterday, the Accused returned to the witness.

EXTORTION CASE BROKEN UP

Charged with extortion of $10 from a woman two Chinese, Cheung Ying-kan and Ngau Hing, were brought before Mr. A. A. Arnold at the Summary Military Court yesterday.

Accused pleaded guilty. C.S.I. Wong Wing-yin said that about 3 p.m. on April 4, Probation Officer Wai was on duty in Gloucester Road when complainant Li Suet-ling reported that accused demanded a sum of $10 from her, and said that they were collecting on behalf of an Inspector of No. 2, Police Station.

The matter was brought to the Divisional Inspector, and on his instructions a marked $10 was given to complainant. About 7 p.m. on April 4, both accused came to complainant's house and asked for the money. The marked note was given to first accused, who was later arrested by the Police and the note found.

A piece of paper containing addresses in the Wanchai district was found in second accused's possession. Enquiries revealed that first accused was responsible for another case at Thomson Road.

First accused was sentenced to six months' hard labour and second accused to three months.

CHOLERA PREVENTION

Canton has taken parallel action with Hong Kong to prevent the spread of cholera and all passengers for Hong Kong by plane, train or steamer are now required to have inoculation certificates with photographs attached certifying that holders have been inoculated not less than six days or more than three months before they will be allowed to leave.

Chan Ming was sentenced to two months' hard labour for receiving a wrist watch valued at $200 in Western Street near Third Street on April 12.

While travelling along Dee Voeux Road Central in an eastern direction about 9.15 a.m. yesterday, a military jeep driven by Gao Mohd Hanif, of the D.O.E. Works (Indian) Victoria Barracks, collided with a Chinese rickshaw which was crossing the road near the Hong Kong Street. The rickshaw driver was injured and the jeep sustained slight damage to the front and chassis.

STOLE 1,000 BRICKS

Eleven Chinese were summoned before Mr. Latimer yesterday for the larceny of 1,000 bricks, for aiding and abetting the larceny and for using a truck for an unlawful purpose.

Chief-Detective Inspector Tyler stated that he was passing Au Tau when he saw Chinese loading bricks onto a truck. They did not have a demolition permit and were arrested.

The first accused, the leader of the gang, was sentenced to three months' hard labour. Nine others who helped him were sentenced to two months. The driver of the truck was fined $100 and his licence cancelled.

It was correct, and signed it?—I merely looked at the statement to see where I was to sign it.

So that interpreter was not correct in what he said?—I looked where I had to sign.

You are on trial for your life, George Wong, and yet you say something that you could not read?—This interpreter had no grudge against me whatsoever. Why should he write something I did not say?

At the committal proceedings you said that you did not read Lui Man-suen's statement but only pocketed it?—I said it simply to test his evidence.

Three days later you went with another man to his house?—Yes.

Do you seriously suggest that you did not know you were to take him back for interrogation?—That man was to see Lui Man-suen and I was to drive him there in the car. That's all.

Certain Extort

In respect of this visit evidence has been given of the intervention of a Mr. Chan?—There was a man who had some conversation with Choy Tuen. What was said I do not know.

Another aspect of the evidence is that after Choy Tuen had left you were still reluctant to go and had to be persuaded?—That is not true. I was awaiting Choy Tuen's orders to go.

Do you say that at the end of 1943 when Barros was arrested you still did not know what the objects and activities of the Special Branch were?—Not very well. To a certain extent, you were beginning to get a glimmer of what the work was?—Not very much.

What do you mean by "to a certain extent"?—I knew that they were arresting people whom they suspected, even smugglers.

You went to arrest Barros on instructions of Yoshimoto?—I did not arrest him. Ah To did. A paper was handed to us with a list of persons to be arrested. I was instructed to go and explain to him in English. He was not arrested but asked to accompany us as the Gendarmes wanted to question him.

Would Assist

Mr. d'Almeida: If Barros had said, "I'm sorry I can't go with you as I have a bridge date," what would have happened?—In that case Ah To would have arrested him.

Mr. Silva: And if Barros would have caught hold of Ah To by the throat and would (Continued on Page 5)

More Temporary Buses On Road

In a further endeavour to relieve the transport situation in Hong Kong, the Government has placed at the disposal of the China Motor Bus Company vehicles that have been converted into temporary buses.

As a result, starting today, bus services will be resumed between Blake Pier and the Hong Kong University and between the Queen Mary Hospital and Blake Pier.

The Blake Pier-University service will operate every 15 minutes. First bus leaves Blake Pier at 8 a.m. and the last at 9.15 p.m. First bus from the University is at 8.15 a.m. and the last at 9.30 p.m.

The Blake Pier-Queen Mary Hospital service will be hourly. First bus leaves Blake Pier at 8 a.m. and the last at 7 p.m. First bus leaves Queen Mary at 8.30 a.m. and the last at 7.30 p.m.

It is hoped to make two more lorries available to the Bus Company for conversion into buses which will increase this service.

It is also hoped, in the near future, to run a weekend bus service from the city to Repulse Bay.

Film Review

"Girl Crazy"

Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland have the happy knack of putting over a song and dance routine which for attack and precision is unusually good. In "Girl Crazy" (at the Kings, today) with Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra, they really do justice to Gertrude's music.

This is a pleasant film, based on a plot which seems entirely credible when it's carried along by Mickey Rooney's effervescent personality. As Danny Churchill, he is sent by his father to a western college where there are no girls, excepting one, who delivers the mail, none other than Judy Garland.

June Allyson, the star of "Two Girls and a Sailor" also has a minor part in this film (which was her third). In the intervening year or so she has become a top-rating star in her own right. Frances Rafferty, who plays the Governor's daughter, has recently been starred in the new Abbott and Costello film "In Hollywood."

The dance scenes have the unmistakable stamp of director Busby Berkeley's personality. There are few dance directors who can cope with a large stage full of dangers as he can. The timing and precision of the chorus is excellent.

Altogether, this is an amusing and successful film, with plenty of action.

G.W.A.

A hawker, Mr. Kam-man, was fined $150 by Mr. Latimer yesterday for the unlawful possession of 11,700 military cigarettes and five tins of tobacco on Mar. 26 at the Government Wharf. Mr. F. X. d'Almeida said that Mr. Kam was arrested by a Revenue Officer. Accused said that he had bought the cigarettes from Europeans on ships he visited.

For the possession of three tins of raw opium, found in tins of preserved papaya, a married woman, Lai Fui, was fined $300 by Mr. W. H. Latimer yesterday. Mr. R. P. Phillips told the court that accused was searched and arrested at the K.C.R. Station on April 12. The opium was ordered to be confiscated to the I. & E. Office.

Ordered Sgt.-Major To Chop Off Their Heads

HIS EXCELLENCY MAJOR-GENERAL F. W. FESTING, G.O.C. HONG KONG, WAS PRESENT FOR MORE THAN AN HOUR AT THE RESUMED HEARING OF THE TRIAL OF 14 JAPANESE FOR WAR CRIMES AT THE MILITARY TRIBUNAL YESTERDAY AFTERNOON WHEN ONE OF THE ACCUSED TOLD HOW HE HAD ORDERED ANOTHER ACCUSED TO BEHEAD TWO CHINESE WITHOUT A FAIR TRIAL ON THE GROUND THAT HE FEARED THEIR ESCAPE AND A SECOND ATTACK ON HIS COMPANY BY CHINESE GUERRILLAS.

This was His Excellency's second visit to the Court. Major-General Festing occasionally made notes of the proceedings.

Lieut. Matsumoto Chozaburo, second on the list of Japanese charged with committing a war crime on Lantau Island between August 18 and 25, told the Court that he saw from the window of his room on the second floor of the Kishi Company's barracks about 40 or 50 Chinese, dressed in ordinary clothing and armed with rifles, attack the barracks at about 2 p.m. on August 19 from the direction of the village and from the hill.

As the Company's Commander, Lieut. Kishi Yasuo, was away on Cheung Chau Island, he said he assumed command and ordered his men, numbering 20, to put up a defence. The attackers, he continued, were eventually driven off after about 30 or 40 minutes' fighting.

After the attack, he said, he and his soldiers searched the villages of Mui O, Ta Ti Toig and others. He ordered that those found in the villages be brought back to the barracks. In reply to Capt. Croft, defending, Matsumoto gave three reasons why he brought the villagers to the barracks. He said the attackers came from the village of Tsun How and retreated into the village of Mui O; the attackers were ordinary Chinese clothing; and Chinese Communists were known to have mixed up with villagers.

Therefore, he explained, he arrived at the conclusion that some villagers might have taken part in the attack or might have had knowledge of the attack. Later, Matsumoto added, he heard from Lieut. Kishi that both Tsung Sam Lee and Lam Fook admitted having taken part in the attack, and that Kishi was going to chop off their heads.

Ordered Execution Between 8 p.m. and 10.30 p.m. the same night he interrogated all those brought back to the barracks. On the following day, about 170 or 180 were still being detained, but towards evening only about 30 remained in his custody. He continued the interrogation of these 30 on August 21.

During the interrogation, two of them, So Po-hwa and Leung Tse-tong, broke down and confessed that they had taken part in the attack.

"I think," Matsumoto continued, "it was about midnight when I ordered Sgt.-Major Uchida Hiroshi to chop off So and Leung's heads with swords."

Capt. Croft: What was your reason for that decision?—We had only 20 soldiers, half of them being sick. Every soldier was feeling tired since they had had only two or three hours' sleep. So and Leung attempted to escape. I feared a second attack since I observed many light signals in the hills that night.

Our wireless communication with Defence H.Q. was not working smoothly. Do you think you are innocent of the charge?—I think I am.

Asked by Capt. Croft, prosecuting, Matsumoto said one soldier was injured as a result of the attack.

Capt. Reilly: Matsumoto, you said you had few soldiers, two or three hours' sleep, no wireless communications. Were these the only reasons why you killed So and Leung without a fair trial?—I think I was right in doing it for self-defence. I was sure our lives would be endangered, if they had managed to escape.

But your lives were not immediately endangered. Am I correct to say?—Our lives were not directly endangered as long as they were in our custody.

Self-defence means one kills other when his life is endangered. Immediately to kill the other's attempt to kill him. Do you know this?—As regards self-defence, we had instructions from higher authorities, who gave us permission to do everything necessary in order to prevent a second attack. Whatever was done in this connection, the higher authorities would recognise it as self-defence.

Witness Cries During the morning session a Japanese witness for the defence broke down and cried when recounting to Capt. Reilly, the Prosecuting Officer, details of a visit which a colleague paid to him while he was in hospital, during which they talked about the surrender.

"We talked about the surrender," he told the Prosecutor. "How we felt sorry at the surrender."

The witness was Sergt. Yoshinari Mikio, a member of the Kishi unit who was wounded by a bullet in his leg and arm when the Company was attacked.

Cross-examined by the Prosecuting Officer, Yoshinari said that after he had been wounded, he suffered pain for four hours before he became unconscious. When he regained consciousness about 5 o'clock the next morning, the first thing he noticed was the pain of an injection. He said he was carried to a boat shortly afterwards and taken away from Lantau Island.

In the craft, he said, were Sergt. Hara, L/Cpl. Yamaguchi and another person called Iwao, all belonging to the Kishi unit. In addition there was a Chinese junkmaster and two other Chinese and they rowed the boat. He was taken to a place where "the tide was swift." As they approached this place he heard "noisy shoutings" and a shot fired, he believed by a guard who was on duty near a barbed-wire fence.

Yoshinari said that he went ashore at this place, but he could not remember who were left in the boat. Asked if he would be surprised to know that the three Chinese who rowed the boat had never been seen since, Yoshinari said "I don't believe such things."

Did Not Know Fate Continuing, witness said he did not do anything to the Chinese. He was in great pain and was put into a vehicle and taken to a hospital. He did not hear anything about the fate of the Chinese.

In answer to the Prosecutor, Yoshinari said that he was visited twice in hospital by his former colleagues, once by L/Cpl. Takenaka (one of the accused persons) and the second occasion by Higashikuchi.

Asked what they talked about during Takenaka's visit, Yoshinari broke down and said: "We talked about the surrender. How we felt sorry at the surrender."

At this point the President asked if Yoshinari was in pain. "It is not the pain of the wound," Yoshinari replied. "I am feeling the pain because I recollect those things I said on that occasion."

In answer to the President, Yoshinari said that he was in hospital for over four months. He was, however, treated at the main hospital for only 12 days.

Questioned as to the number of the Kishi unit which resisted the guerillas during the attack on August 19, Yoshinari said that there were between 15 or 16, and he also saw two guerillas on the mountains. He did not know what had happened to the three Chinese who rowed him in the boat.

No Weapons Found Another Japanese witness called to testify for the defence was Corporal Matsuba Masatoshi, formerly of the Kishi Unit. He said that while he was on Tai O Island on August 19 he saw five or six Chinese, dressed in ordinary clothing and armed with pistols, take part in the firing against the Kishi barracks from the door of the Peace Preservation Society in the village. Fighting lasted for 40 or 50 minutes after which he and others went into the village and made a search.

In the course of the search he did not discover any empty cartridges of rifles or pistols. He was, however, told later that two rifles were found in the village.

The Court adjourned to 10 a.m. today.

Lai Kit Committed For Trial

Committal proceedings in the case of Lai Kit, who is charged with High Treason, ended yesterday when Mr. C. Y. Kwan at the Summary Military Court after hearing the last witness, Capt. Yamaguchi, for the prosecution, committed Lai Kit to trial.

Lai Kit reserved his defence but made the following statement from the dock: "I have a statement to make. If the matter is to be settled by the Supreme Court I will reserve my statement till then. Because I am not clear on the point of law. I ask the Government to assign a lawyer to help me in explaining my case."

Mr. Kwan assured Lai Kit that his request would be forwarded to the proper authorities and asked Mr. Smith to do so.

Mr. Smith stated that accused would be assigned a solicitor to prepare his defence and a counsel to present it.

Yesterday, Capt. Yamaguchi produced the records of judgments of the Military Court of the Japanese-occupied territory of Hong Kong.

In reply to Mr. Smith, witness said that on a page in the 1944 records there were the names of 11 defendants which included Lai Chak-po and Mui Foon. The former was sentenced to death and the latter to three years' imprisonment.

The chief judge was Watanabe Witness was the legal adviser. He was a barrister at law in the Japanese court and also a member of the Judge Advocate's court in the Japanese Army.

The sentence of Lai Chak-po was later remitted to one of life imprisonment and that of Mui Foon to two years and three months. Witness agreed that the following appeared in the record book he produced.

"By the wholehearted arrest of Lai Chak-po, and also a member of the Judge Advocate's court in the Japanese Army."

In each case, witness said there was a confession from Lai Chak-po and Mui Foon.

Civil War In Manchuria

Chungking, April 15. General Chou En-lai, Communist leader number two, said in a press conference today that the Manchurian situation has developed into a state of "civil war" wherein Communist troops reserved the right to meet Kuomintang attacks with counter-attacks.

The Communist leader disclosed that two formal protests have been made against United States military assistance in transporting Central Government forces to Manchuria. He added that if instead of taking over Manchuria, the Kuomintang wants to fight a civil war in China, "Communist troops will take up arms to resist."

In view of Government attacks on Manchuria, Chou En-lai said the Communist forces are surrounding the Manchurian capital of Changchun, and "have every political right" to occupy the city if the Soviet forces evacuate today as scheduled. General Chou said that General Marshall, now en route to Chungking from America, will find the Chinese situation "much more critical than he believed it to be when he left a month ago for Washington."—Associated Press.

MARSHALL IN HONOLULU

Honolulu, April 15. General and Mrs. Marshall arrived here yesterday on route to China where he is returning as special United States envoy. Marshall said "We do not know how long we will be in China." He had no further comment on the fact that he was taking his wife to China.—Associated Press.

MOTOR TRAIN SERVICE

Canton, Apr. 15. It is reliably learned that the motor train service between Canton and Hong Kong will start on April 21.

The hour of departure from Canton is 7 a.m. and that from Hong Kong 7.30 a.m. The trip will take just under six hours. Passengers will be limited to 60, and fares have been fixed at HK$5.400 from Canton and HK$2.500 from Hong Kong.

RICHARDS REMANDED

J. J. Richards who is charged with High Treason appeared before Mr. C. Y. Kwan at the Summary Military Court yesterday morning on remand. At the request of Mr. R. S. Smith, for the prosecution, Mr. C. Y. Kwan fixed three days commencing at 10 a.m. on May 1 for the hearing.

Soviet Withdrawal From Changchun

CHUNGKING, APRIL 15. THE SOVIET WITHDRAWAL FROM CHANGCHUN, FORMER SOVIET HEADQUARTERS IN MANCHURIA, WAS COMPLETED THIS MORNING AFTER 235 DAYS OF OCCUPATION, IT WAS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED TODAY.

THE SOVIET FORCES IN MANCHURIA ARE LEAVING STRICTLY ACCORDING TO THEIR TIME-TABLE, WHICH PROVIDES FOR THEIR COMPLETE WITHDRAWAL FROM THE PROVINCE BY THE END OF THIS MONTH.

The Commander of the Chinese Government's garrison in Changchun estimates that 30,000 Communist troops are now massed around the city, according to a Chungking announcement.

Twice today Communist forces had attacked the Changchun airfield, the first attack lasting over four hours, it is stated. There had also been clashes in the city suburbs.

Kuomintang forces advancing north towards Changchun from Mukden were last expected to reach the city by the end of this week.

The three-man committee, formed under a recent Kuomintang-Communist agreement, left Peking for Mukden this morning to investigate the situation in Manchuria on the spot. Two Chungking ministers and the Chief-of-Staff of the Communist Eighth Army constitute the committee, on which General George Marshall, United States special envoy in China, is represented by Lieutenant-General Alvin G. Gillen.

Martial Law

Martial law was enforced in Changchun as from 10.00 a.m. today when the Chinese garrison commander took over, the Central News Agency reported to-night.

Social gatherings are forbidden, all mails, printed matter and telegrams are subject to censorship, and private houses and pedestrians in the streets are liable to be searched, if they come under suspicion.

A curfew has been imposed, restricting freedom of movement between the hours of 6.00 p.m. and 7.00 a.m.

An official at Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Headquarters in North-eastern China was quoted by the Central News as saying today that the Chinese authorities in Changchun had completed defence works in preparation "for any eventuality."

The city's water and power supply was assured, the official added.

"Civil War"

General Chou En-lai, Communist representative in Chungking, told the press this afternoon that North-eastern China would "shortly be turned into a battlefield" if the Government continued to ignore the cease-fire order. The Government's takeover in Manchuria was nothing but civil war, General Chou declared.

Asked whether the entry of Communist troops into Manchurian cities could be reconciled with the Sino-Soviet treaty, which recognizes only the Chungking National Government.

General Chou said the treaty "does not specify which troops can enter the North-eastern cities." Communist troops are also Chinese troops and, therefore, have as much right as Kuomintang troops to take over.

Chungking Fighting. Chungking, Apr. 15. Fighting was reported in the suburbs of Changchun today.

Although Soviet forces were withdrawing, Russian flags were flying over many buildings, which were marked with signboards showing them to be the property of Soviet nationals.

Not Tied Up. Will you agree that William Chen was not tied up?—Yes. He was not tied up.

All the suspects in that house were tied up hand and foot with the exception of William Chen. Was that because of your influence?—I took that man to the second floor of No. 69. There he remained and nobody on that floor was tied up.

In this house of torture there was you, a loyal Chinese. What I want to find out is what was your excuse for having been there.—On that occasion I was employed as a driver for seven days.

Never once in those seven days did you recall in horror from what was going on in that house?—I only saw people tied up on chairs and on the floor.

How many persons beside you went to Dr. Atienza's house when he was arrested?—Five in all.

Dr. Atienza himself said that only three went. I suggest to you that you said five went because of your version that two persons alone could not administer the water-torture.—I was there to watch the door.

Began to Know. The arrest of Enrique Leo was carried out in June, 1944. Do you mean to say that you did not know by that time what the activities of the Tokko Branch were?—I know that in some cases the Japanese suspected people of being spies.

In which cases?—In most cases. It was near the time I began to know.

It has then just beginning to dawn on you that the Tokko Branch were investigating spies?—Yes. It appears to many of the witnesses that I was a very important personage in the Gen-darmes. In fact I was called upon only for small jobs. I was never so many occasions when arrests were made.

After nine months in the Gen-darmes he began to occur to you that the Special Branch were connected with anti-spying work?—Yes.

Your case, George Wong, is that you were a spy for the Chinese. In the Tokko Branch you had a golden opportunity and yet you tell us you were not curious enough to find out something for the Allies?—At the beginning I was attached to the Tokko. At that time I was in contact with the guerrillas. After that I left them and I had nothing more to do with the guerrillas.

After I was arrested for having been a spy, I was in the Tokko. I was in the Tokko. I was in the Tokko. I was in the Tokko.

It was suggested in your examination of George Wong that you were a spy. Is that correct?—Yes.

NAZIS IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Apr. 15. American war crimes officers today arrested seven alleged members of a German espionage network which operated in violation of the surrender terms as late as the Japanese surrender.

This climax to months-long investigations was the most important yet in the rounds of international justice that have been conducted in the Orient. The seven persons arrested were charged with having participated or engaged in activities hostile to the United States. They will presumably all be tried in China.

War crimes officials said that they had enough witnesses to conduct the trials here.—Associated Press.

Communist troops into Manchurian cities could be reconciled with the Sino-Soviet treaty, which recognizes only the Chungking National Government.

General Chou said the treaty "does not specify which troops can enter the North-eastern cities." Communist troops are also Chinese troops and, therefore, have as much right as Kuomintang troops to take over.

Chungking Fighting. Chungking, Apr. 15. Fighting was reported in the suburbs of Changchun today.

Although Soviet forces were withdrawing, Russian flags were flying over many buildings, which were marked with signboards showing them to be the property of Soviet nationals.

Not Tied Up. Will you agree that William Chen was not tied up?—Yes. He was not tied up.

All the suspects in that house were tied up hand and foot with the exception of William Chen. Was that because of your influence?—I took that man to the second floor of No. 69. There he remained and nobody on that floor was tied up.

In this house of torture there was you, a loyal Chinese. What I want to find out is what was your excuse for having been there.—On that occasion I was employed as a driver for seven days.

Never once in those seven days did you recall in horror from what was going on in that house?—I only saw people tied up on chairs and on the floor.

How many persons beside you went to Dr. Atienza's house when he was arrested?—Five in all.

Dr. Atienza himself said that only three went. I suggest to you that you said five went because of your version that two persons alone could not administer the water-torture.—I was there to watch the door.

Began to Know. The arrest of Enrique Leo was carried out in June, 1944. Do you mean to say that you did not know by that time what the activities of the Tokko Branch were?—I know that in some cases the Japanese suspected people of being spies.

In which cases?—In most cases. It was near the time I began to know.

It has then just beginning to dawn on you that the Tokko Branch were investigating spies?—Yes. It appears to many of the witnesses that I was a very important personage in the Gen-darmes. In fact I was called upon only for small jobs. I was never so many occasions when arrests were made.

After nine months in the Gen-darmes he began to occur to you that the Special Branch were connected with anti-spying work?—Yes.

Your case, George Wong, is that you were a spy for the Chinese. In the Tokko Branch you had a golden opportunity and yet you tell us you were not curious enough to find out something for the Allies?—At the beginning I was attached to the Tokko. At that time I was in contact with the guerrillas. After that I left them and I had nothing more to do with the guerrillas.

Tried Twice To Murder G'issimo

Chungking, April 15. Yu Li-chi, a Chinese newspaperman who made two attempts on the life of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the first in 1934 and the second in 1935, has been sentenced to 13 years' imprisonment and deprivation of civil rights for eight years, the army mouthpiece "Ho Ping Pao" reported from Kweichow, capital of Kweichow.

This is the first public disclosure of these alleged attempts to kill Chiang. The prosecution charged that Yu Li-chi belonged to a terrorist organization which aimed at the assassination of top-ranking government officials.

The prosecution said he was responsible for the attempt on the life of Premier T. V. Soong in Shanghai in 1931, when the present president of the Executive Yuan was minister of finance.

Yu Li-chi was nabbed in Nanking in 1935 after an attempt on the life of Wang Ching-wei, then premier, who later became Japan's puppet No. 1 in China. Wang Ching-wei died in Japan in 1944 a few months after an operation by Japanese doctors for the removal of a bullet.—Associated Press.

NOTICE

JAPANESE REPARATIONS

1. The British Empire reparations claims against Japan will shortly be considered in London. It is necessary that some estimate of the Hong Kong claim should be obtained as soon as possible with a view to providing the Colonial Office with the initial material necessary for the computation of the Empire claim.

2. It is requested, therefore, that all firms, institutions and private persons, irrespective of previous notification, will submit a brief summary of their claims, classifying them as far as possible under the categories shown below. It is emphasised that all that is required at present is an estimate of loss sustained calculated on 1938 replacement costs if possible, if not the estimate should be expressed in present values together with some indication of the increase in costs since 1938. Justifications or evidence in support of individual claims will be called for at a later date. Correspondence should be addressed to:

Reparations Claims Office.

1st Floor, Post Office Bldg., Des Voeux Road, Hong Kong.

The categories under which estimates are required are as follows:

A. DIRECT PHYSICAL DAMAGE.

This should not include damage due to under-maintenance and should include damage due to:

- direct enemy action by bombing, shelling, burning, looting or denial; or
- direct allied action by bombing, shelling, sabotage or denial.

Estimates may be classified under the following headings:

- Industry and Commerce. Structures and equipment, stocks of raw materials and finished goods.
- Shipping. Figures for ocean going vessels 500 gross tons and over should be distinguished from sailing and small craft.
- Harbour, port works and installations. Wharves, buildings, harbour roads, etc., and the value of cranes and other equipment destroyed or taken away.
- Transportation. Damage to road vehicles and civil aeronautical equipment.
- Agriculture.
- Public buildings, Churches, hospitals, schools and all other public buildings. Estimates should make allowance for equipment as well as for structures.
- Household goods and effects.
- Gold, silver, national bank notes, foreign securities, jewellery, works of art and cultural objects.
- Houses and buildings not included elsewhere.
- Other items of physical damage.

B. UNDER-MAINTENANCE:

This includes, besides under-maintenance, losses due to the exploitation of resources by the enemy or for the allied war effort.

C. CIVIL CASUALTIES.

Although complete records are available of all military casualties, it is probable that records of civil casualties are not complete. Persons who lost relatives (not serving in the armed forces) and whose deaths were due (a) to direct enemy action such as shooting, hanging, torture, imprisonment, etc., or (b) to allied action as a result of bombing, etc., should furnish full particulars distinguishing clearly between (a) and (b).

The above information is being called for in order that the Reparations Committee may be in a position to consider in general terms the claim of the British Empire on Japan and the shares of the various claimant Empire countries. Nothing is known at present as to the total sum which may ultimately be available. Claims submitted will be placed on record but it should be realised that this is no guarantee that they will ultimately be met either in whole or in part.

HE CALLED UPON THE AMERICAN REPUBLICS TO HELP ERADICATE POVERTY WHICH BREEDS WARS.

Iran Needs U.N.O. For Fair Election

Teheran, April 14. A right-wing deputy who served in the recently expired parliament session and asked to remain anonymous declared today that Iran could be assured of a fair election only through intervention of the United Nations.

"The Central Government is influenced by the Russians and the Tudeh (leftist) party will want the candidates it wants," he said.

"Frankly, most of the Right-wing leaders fear to announce for seats."

Meanwhile, a Tudeh Party leader threatened "vigorous action" to suppress alleged terrorism amidst Tudeh followers in outlying provinces.

Premier Ahmad Qavam has promised to call elections for a new parliament immediately after the Russian troops complete their withdrawals from Iran. The deadline for the evacuation under the Soviet-Iran agreement is May 6.

A Government official said no reports have been received of Soviet troops actually leaving northwestern Azerbaijan province, but that some barracks had been vacated by the Russians in the provincial capital of Tabriz and occupied by Azerbaidjani troops.

A British parliamentary mission, composed of Michael Foot and Brigadier Anthony Head, left for London after they were unable to obtain Soviet permission to visit Azerbaijan. Associated Press.

Climbed On Sydney Bridge

Two British naval officers climbed to the top of Sydney Harbour Bridge to celebrate All Fools' Day.

They tied their white cap-covers to the crane at the highest part of the span.

The officers are Lieut. Fred Watts, 25, and Sub-Lieut. Arthur Overton, 24, both of Roslyn Street, King's Cross.

Watts comes from Salisbury, Rhodesia, and Overton from Dalston, London.

Overton said: "I arrived in Sydney from Hong Kong only three weeks ago. As soon as I saw the Bridge I determined to climb it."

I decided to wait till April 1—the proper day for such ventures."

Watts said: "The Bridge is so easy to climb, it's a cake-walk."

"Our objective was the crane right at the top of the span."

"There's a guide-rail to within 25ft. of the highest part."

"We walked up the 8ft-wide span to the crane, and tied our white cap-covers to it."

"Overton counted the steps on the way down. There are 333."

"The whole job took us only about 30 minutes."

U.S. "Cloak and Dagger" Costs

Moscow, Apr. 14. The Russians read with interest the statement by United States Secretary of State James Byrnes, that he is determined "to obtain appropriations of $4,000,000 for a separate intelligence unit."

The account of the statement was carried in the Russian newspaper "Izvestia," and told of Byrnes' recent attempt to gain reinstatement of the allotment after it had been turned down by the congressional committee. Particular significance was attached to Byrnes' statement that "An intelligence service is not only essential to the United States foreign policy, it is also a real element in the national system of security."

The Russians say that they find it difficult to reconcile the statement with evidence in the United States of the intelligence services of other countries. Associated Press.

British Empire As Pattern

London, April 14. Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today that he believed the British Commonwealth would provide the pattern for a "Federation of the World."

He stated in a speech that "we have found the secret of combining and achieving the unification of great masses of the people in the world, without destroying their liberty and at the same time maintaining their freedom for them all."

He said the world's current discussions "encourage us to believe that if we maintain our policy on a firm, true course, this great secret that Britain has discovered may yet become the foundation of the Federation of the World."

He said it is impossible to explain just exactly what holds the Empire together but "there is a feeling of rebirth of the British Commonwealth and Empire and of its place in the world."

The Empire "has survived and it will survive," he said, adding: "Nothing will ever prevent the Empire from surviving because I believe it has an extraordinary mission to fulfill." Associated Press.

Cows En Route To Hong Kong

Because of long confinement in dock stalls, 64 breeding cattle on a British freighter now in Sydney Harbour are developing swollen legs.

The cows, consisting of Ayrshires, Jerseys, and Friesians, are consigned from Melbourne to Hong Kong on the Empire Gunfleet.

The ship has been in Sydney Harbour for 10 days.

All the cows are in calf. The first calf was born on Friday.

The plight of the cows was brought under the notice of the R.S.P.C.A. by wharf-labourers working the ship.

An officer of the Empire Gunfleet said that slow work by the waterside workers was delaying the vessel's departure.

No Cruelty
Cattle on board the freighter Empire Gunfleet at Glebe Wharf are well cared for and have put on condition since they left Melbourne, said the R.S.P.C.A.'s chief inspector (Mr. H. C. Scott).

The R.S.P.C.A. is satisfied with conditions on board and will take no action to have the animals put ashore.

German Scientists Ahead In Some Things

Wright Field, Ohio, April 15. Germany outpaced the Allies in several fields regarded as prime in any war of the future, including super-sound, jet aircraft, jet propulsion and rocket weapons. It was ahead, too, in rocket weapons.

But the Nazi effort collapsed just when a raw surge of power was most feared. Within a matter of months the Germans were expected to have improved jet fighters and bombers and anti-aircraft weapons which might well have made Allied air assaults too costly; as it was, multiplied eight times.

Tables showing the probability of hitting an airplane with such weapons indicate that if the Germans had doubled the speed of their anti-aircraft projectiles, as they expected to do within six months, the probability of hits would have been multiplied eight times.

New Wings
Colonel Donald Putt, head of a group of technical intelligence experts known as T2, studying German science progress, said information being accumulated in Europe should bring the United States up to the German level in super-sound. He felt that every possible use should be made of German scientists.

Secrets of German scientists have been brought to the United States as well as more than 200 tons of documents and 2,000 tons of equipment.

After victory in Europe, American experts learned that the "swept back" wing the Germans were developing helped to solve the problem of compressibility of air at very high speeds; the Allies also learned about swept-back propeller blades which curve back like a boomerang.

Fastest Plane
Here are some of the other important items in which Germany showed the way to the Allies:
Jet propulsion engines of all types—much German research already has been put to use in ways beyond the Nazi ability.

Fuel injection—instead of carburetion, for piston type engines. The Germans had virtually abandoned the carburetor.

Rockets—developed almost beyond the Allies' imagination. Variations included piloted suicide weapons—design the Germans had the fastest fighters and interceptors in combat. The fastest aeroplane in the world, the Me-262, a twin-engine jet fighter, was in production.

Germany had a dozen super-sound wind tunnels in operation, the wind tunnels none. Associated Press.

Political Crime Wave In Poland

Warsaw, Apr. 14. Fascists are committing 30 political murders a day in Poland, Joseph Cyrankiewicz, Secretary-General of the Polish Socialist Party, said yesterday.

"It is undoubtedly true that 7,000 Polish politicians have been murdered in the last nine months," he told the Associated Press. The killings are continuing and Cyrankiewicz said he had narrowly escaped death himself. He blamed the "national NSZ guerrilla bands, fascists, Volksdeutsch and elements financed by the former London government" for the crime wave. He asserted the lawlessness is not to be blamed on the government and attributed it, in part, to the prevalence of post-war psychosis.

The difference between Poland's crime wave and that of other countries such as the United States is that it is almost exclusively political, he said. Associated Press.

New Ford For 1947

Detroit, April 14. The President of the Ford Motor Company, Henry Ford II, announces that a new, lighter-weight, low-priced Ford will be introduced on the market sometime after January 1, 1947. The engineering details of the new Ford have not been revealed.

Earlier in the week, the Chevrolet Division of General Motors announced that they would build a new, lighter-weight unit at a new plant to be erected near Cleveland, Ohio.

It has been suggested in some circles that both cars—probably of standard size, but much more economical in operation—would find a larger market in the export field. Associated Press.

Alienation Of Her Mother's Affection

Danville, Ill., Apr. 14. Mrs. Marjorie Stevick Horton, whose mother is president of the Champaign News Gazette, was sued today by her step-father, artist Arty MacNicol, for $500,000, for the alleged alienation of her mother's (his wife's) affections.

Mrs. Horton's former husband, Lt.-Col. William E. Dyke, was the Bataan Death March hero who was killed in 1943. She was remarried last month.

MacNicol, in his suit, alleged that Mrs. Horton had enticed her mother, Mrs. Helen Stevick MacNicol, from him, through "inter-meddling and scheming" and also charged that the defendant had slandered and defamed his character. Associated Press.

Spotty N.Y.
Business
Conditions

New York, April 15.

Strikes and material shortages produced a spotty condition in business and finance this week. The worst hit by the national coal strike were the mines themselves, freight-car loadings, steel production and a variety of miscellaneous manufacturers whose flow of supplies were either curtailed or stopped.

A serious shortage of copper was further aggravated by a strike in the Montana mines. The strongest spoke in the wheel of industry was the record-breaking consumer spending as the Easter season drew nearer.

Dun and Bradstreet found retail sales above the heavy volume in the preceding week and from 23 to 27 per cent above those of 1945. The automobile output was the highest yet attained since the war, 49,425 units as against 47,735 units a week previously. The stock market flirted with the 16-year highest record attained in February, but receded when prices reached within a fraction of the former peak prices.

Stock sales declined to 7,690,990 shares, from 8,125,550 shares of the previous week. The turnover in bonds amounted to $30,834,300 as against $24,975,200 of the previous week.

Most of the company news is on the bright side with reports of expansion, new products, debt clearances, and record breaking orders. Steel production reached 78.3 per cent, as compared with 87.1 of the previous week. Freight-car loadings were 644,663 units as compared to 809,142 units. Grade oil production was 4,446,400 barrels as compared with 4,424,150 barrels. — Associated Press.

New York, Apr. 15.

The Coca-Cola Company and its consolidated subsidiaries reported a net profit of $25,124,000 for 1945, or $5.67 a common share, compared with $25,021,000 or $5.64 a common share for 1944. — Associated Press.

Japan Buyer Of American Cotton

WASHINGTON, APRIL 15.

AMERICAN COTTON SHIPPERS MAY GET A MAJOR SHARE IN JAPANESE PURCHASES EXPECTED TO TOTAL OVER ONE MILLION BALES ANNUALLY UNDER AN AGREEMENT REPORTED TO BE UNDER CONSIDERATION BY THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION.

SENATORS WHO HAVE BEEN CONSULTED ABOUT NEGOTIATIONS NOW IN PROGRESS SAID THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT THE UNITED STATES MAY BE ASSIGNED 65 PER CENT OF THE IMPORT QUOTAS EXPECTED TO BE SET UP UNDER THE DIRECTION OF GENERAL MACARTHUR.

Meanwhile, Senators from cotton States plan a new fight against the order by economic stabilizer Chester Bowles increasing margin requirements on cotton futures trading to $50—a bale.

Senator Maybank, Democrat of South Carolina, said Bowles' action is likely to bring a short crop next year with resulting price increases. Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, promised retaliatory measures if Bowles' order is not lifted and said any attempt made to extend the life of the Office of Price Administration beyond July 1 would be countered by his seeking to remove all controls over farm commodities.

British Proposal

State Department officials are reported to be working fast, meanwhile, to get through an agreement on the sale of cotton to the Japanese in the hope that its announcement might soften some southern States opposition that has arisen in the Senate to the proposed $3,750,000 British loan.

Under the proposed agreement the reported Japanese import quotas would be set on a basis of sales to that country in the 25-year pre-war period. American negotiators are pushing this plan as an alternative suggestion to a British Empire proposal that the base cover only five years before the outbreak of the war. During that period India bartered cotton to Japan while the United States was virtually frozen from the market. — Associated Press.

CEBU OIL COMPANY STOCK

Manila, April 15. Shareholders of the Far-East Oil Development Company, which is drilling in Northern Cebu Island, today approved tripling the Company's one million pesos stock to permit the Trans-American Corporation of San Francisco to subscribe to one third of the shares.

Andres Soriano, the Far-East Company President, said today that he was securing equipment and engineers from the United States to continue work on the project. Work was halted and all machinery was destroyed on orders from the United States Army in 1942, to prevent oil from reaching the Japanese. — Associated Press.

ANACONDA COPPER

New York, Apr. 15. Anaconda Copper Mining Company said today the principal causes for a 35 per cent drop in its net income for 1945 were the refusal of the Office of Price Administration to adjust prices after V-J day and recovery of the copper and brass fabricating industry. The company reported net income last year of $20,402,000, equal to $2.35 per capital share, compared with $31,423,000, or $3.62 a share in 1944. — Associated Press.

Strike Effect
On Steel
Production

Cleveland, Ohio, Apr. 15. The magazine "Steel" said yesterday that production of steel sheets which are among the most critical of all products, has not yet been materially affected by the soft coal strike but that the output of plates, bars and rails had been severely curtailed.

It said another week of the strike may see considerable effect on sheets. The demand for all products remains strong, it said, notably for small diameter bars and light flat-rolled products.

The fuel situation adds to the uncertainty and some mills operating on a quarterly quota, which recently planned to announce third quarter quotas at this time, have postponed action for at least two weeks.

Because of the fuel shortage, blast furnaces are being banked and the pig iron supply is much curtailed, though every effort is being made to distribute it as widely as possible, the magazine said. It added that foundries are operating at a low rate in the face of heavy backlogs of orders and a better labour supply than in recent months. Foundries also are unable to obtain sufficient quantities of scrap.

The estimated rate of production last week dropped six points to 75.5 per cent of capacity. — Associated Press.

Ulster Linen
Markets

Belfast, April 15. Northern Ireland is working not only to recapture her pre-war markets for Irish linen, but to establish herself as a rayon goods exporter. For customers she looks particularly to the Americas.

Before the war Ulster was known for its production of 100 percent flax fabrics. Now manufacturers in that area have developed a distinctive and colorful Irish "linen finish" rayon fabric, and they hope to make this less costly product attractive as an export.

The use of rayon in linen manufacture is an extension of the custom that flax factories should carry a number of a cotton looms. British utility needs currently have resulted in expansion of this custom. So great has been the development of long staple rayon production that nearly half the 1944 textiles produced by Irish mills consisted of rayon or mixed rayon-and-linen articles. Exports were cut sharply during the war. Textile shipments from Irish ports last year included a comprehensive range of damask, sheetings, embroidery linens, cambrics, kitchen goods, crapes, glass cloths, towels, suiting and costume linens. — Associated Press.

THE METAL
MARKETS

New York, April 15. The British elimination of subsidies on copper, lead and zinc by hiking their prices, and American negotiations for the importation of Canadian, Mexican and Peruvian lead to relieve the acute domestic shortage highlighted the week in the metal market.

The British also took spotlight in the aluminum field by slicing the price from approximately 15 cents to 12 cents a pound. The United States price remained at 15 cents. The British arranged for 215,000 metric tons to be delivered during 1946 and 1947 from Canada. Duty on Canadian aluminum imported into the United States is three cents a pound. Copper prices in Britain raised to 12.50 cents a pound which is close to the world market quotation. The British raised lead prices to eight cents against the United States ceiling of 6-1/2 cents.

Zinc has been set by the British at seven cents a pound although the world price is around eight cents. — Associated Press.

New York, April 14. The production of whiskey, neutral spirits, gin, brandy and rum, totaled 24,828,000 gallons in February, an increase of 142 per cent over the 10,240,000 gallons in the same month of 1945. The liquor industry reported that it had a record production in 1945. — Associated Press.

West opened the Queen of diamonds. South winning with the Ace, South then led the Queen of spades for a finesse, and East won with the spade King. East then thought briefly—very briefly—and executed a neat swindle by returning the Queen of hearts.

Before we see what happened, let's examine the reasons for East's lead. The opening lead had told him that South had both the Ace and King of diamonds. West could not have the diamond King, for if he had held it he would have led the King rather than the Queen of diamonds. The defence could obviously win no club tricks, nor any further trump tricks. The contract could be set, therefore, only if three heart tricks could be won. Those tricks could be won if West had both the Ace and King of hearts (unlike the view of the bidding and West's opening lead) or if West had the Ace and Jack—provided South guessed wrong.

Now for what happened. South thought, reasonably enough, that East had led from the Queen of hearts. If that were the case, it would be fatal to play the King, for West would take the Ace and return the suit through dummy's ten, and South would lose three heart tricks. But if East had the Jack of hearts as well as the Queen, South could make his contract by playing a low heart. For then if East continued with the Jack, South would play the King, thereby setting up dummy's ten or winning the trick at once; and if East continued with a low heart, South could play low and dummy's ten would force West to put up the Ace. South therefore played a low heart, and there went his contract. East continued with a low heart, and West took two more heart tricks.

ANSWER: Pass. You can probably beat two spades about a trick or so, but that is not a real certainty if the diamond Ace is behind you. You may not do well, furthermore, against three diamonds; and that may become the contract if you double. A pass at this stage may pay big dividends if the opponents continue to bid as is likely possible. Score 100 per cent for pass, 50 per cent for double.

COAL OUTPUT

Washington, Apr. 15. Soft coal production fell to 850,000 tons in the first week of work stoppage in the mines manned by the United Mine Workers Union of John L. Lewis. This compares with an output of 13,270,000 in the week ended March 30.

Secretary of Interior Krug, who also is Solid Fuel Administrator, said that about 800 soft coal mines continued in operation in the first week of April. He said more than 2,000 mines operated by the U. M. W. were closed. — Associated Press.

Self-Government And India

New Delhi, April 15.
Discovery of a formula for bringing self-government to India appears to have been taken largely out of the hands of the Indians themselves and into the hands of three British Cabinet ministers—Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Secretary of State for India, Sir Stafford Cripps, President of the Board of Trade, and A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty.

Guerilla Chief May Give Evidence

out the whole of 1944. In 1945 I had some connection with the guerillas at Chung Tai. From May 10, 1945 to No. 10, February, 1946.
Two-fold Purpose
Let's have it quite clear. From the time of your arrest in February or March, 1945, you had no connection with the guerillas with regard to the two-fold purpose.

As the trial began the fourth week of their work here there was wide expectation that on Tuesday or Wednesday they would make some definite suggestions to the various Indian parties, with recommendations that the latter talk it out among themselves while the cabinet members take an Easter week-end vacation in Kashmir.

Since scarcely anybody in India expects the All-India Congress and Muslim League to reach a settlement alone during this period, the commission appears certainly to face the job of announcing a formula on its return on April 23.

Each side amply expressed willingness to confer, provided the other side came to the conference with a prior concession. Congress wants an agreement which will get the Indians out of control of the central government, and they are openly prepared to make large concessions provided they are not asked to make a direct commitment for complete independence for Moslem areas of India.

The Muslim League insists that the commitment must be made before they will negotiate. One League leader said "How can we negotiate away our independence? If we surrender our independence we have nothing left to negotiate." Associated Press.

TROUBLES AHEAD New Clashes With Russia? Outcome Of Vital Importance

WASHINGTON APRIL 15.
THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN ARE APPROACHING A NEW AND PROBABLY DECISIVE SERIES OF CLASHES WITH RUSSIA OVER THE WESTWARD EXTENSION OF SOVIET INFLUENCE. THE OUTCOME, WASHINGTON OFFICIALS BELIEVE, WILL VITALLY AFFECT THE WORLD POLITICAL ORGANIZATION FOR GENERATIONS.

THE TWO GREAT ISSUES—CONTROL OF THE MEDITERRANEAN AND CONTROL OF STRATEGIC GERMAN TERRITORY—ARE SHAPING UP FIRST. BOTH WILL FIGURE TO SOME EXTENT IN APRIL 25 AT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS MEETING IN PARIS. NEITHER, IT NOW APPEARS, WILL BE SETTLED THERE.

Issues scheduled for formal consideration in Paris are such that men high in the Government Council describe Secretary of State James F. Byrnes as willing to risk the worst split yet in Anglo-American-Russian unity—even to foredoom the Paris meeting to a failure—rather than give way to Russian demands.

In making this decision Byrnes has carried his relatively new "be firm with Russia" policy to what may prove to be the ultimate stage with his associates agree. He has moved into a bargaining position from which if he holds firm it will only be possible for the big powers to work out the European peace settlements provided Russia makes some sweeping concessions.

Russia is a challenge to the control which Britain exercises over the Mediterranean through the possession of such strategic bases as Gibraltar. Russia is demanding as part of the peace treaty with Italy that she be given an individual trusteeship of Tripolitania, key North African position on the flank of Britain's Mediterranean line.

Threat To Britain
She is also opposing the American plan to demilitarize the Dodecanese islands, even though they may be turned over to Greece.

Official speculation is that the Russians would hope to get their own Dodecanese bases or by some political manoeuvre, not yet disclosed, gain control of any Greek bases put there.

With Tripolitania and Dodecanese bases or either one, alone Russia would be in a position to upset Britain's Mediterranean position, raising for the United States the question as to whether it is American policy to help to protect that position. A check of responsible American diplomatic officials shows predominant view that such protection is in the American interest.

The German control issue arises in a less direct form. It comes up at Paris because Byrnes has promised the French Foreign Minister that at the end of the Foreign Ministers conference he will be willing to discuss the French plans for depriving Germany of the Ruhr and Rhineland. The French want some form of international control.

Russian Policy
Some informants here say that the French indicate what they most fear in the future is a unified Germany under Communist control and so they are seeking a kind of dismemberment. American opponents of this plan argue that they do not believe that all Germany ever will be Communist controlled and that they object to giving Russia a position of power equal to that of France, Britain

Democracy And A One-Party State

Erlangen, Bavaria, April 15.
Major C. P. Mayhew, Labour Member of Parliament, told the first conference of Bavarian Social Democrats to be held since pre-Hitler days that "the British Labour Party views with sympathy your refusal to fuse with the Communist Party".

Major Mayhew, who was conveying fraternal greetings of British Labour to the conference, added: "It is the British Labour Party's view that democracy is not compatible with a one-party state. The British Labour Party firmly supports you in your work to establish democracy and socialism in Germany. Both our parties know that without Socialism we cannot solve our economic problems. Both our parties know, too, that without democracy, socialism is corrupted."

The Bavarian Social Democratic Party claims about 100,000 members. Dr Wilhelm Hoegner, Premier of the Provisional Government, who spoke at the conference, called for "an end, once and for all to a ultra-militaristic state."

The Social Democratic Party aimed at a federal Germany in the federation of European states, he said. German Social Democrats should not be surprised if German centralism had been regarded with suspicion—even British trade unionists had scented danger in German centralised trade unions. "We know that Nazism is not fully dead in Germany," Dr Hoegner added. "There are those who are waiting and watching."

Essential Preliminary
The Premier defined the Party's economic policy by saying that state capitalism, with the dangers of bureaucracy and centralism did not represent any basic advance upon private enterprise. The worker had no interest in changing his master, but in gaining equal rights in running industry.

Extension of the cooperative system was essential in the reconstruction of Germany. Nationalisation was not the way for agriculture, but the building up of village communities into co-operative units would harmonise with the best interests of industry as a whole. He said that the final liberation of Germany from Nazism and militarism was an essential preliminary to reconstruction.

It would be irresponsible to hope that anything could be gained if the Allies fell out. The only consequence of this would be a new war at the expense of the German people and war in an atomic age.—Reuter.

Yugoslav Army In Germany
Moscow, April 15.
The existence of a "Royal Yugoslav Army" in the American zone in Germany was reported and criticised in the international review in "Pravda" today.

The paper said: "Formation of units of followers of General Mihailovich and others began in October last year under the leadership of the so-called Yugoslav Military Mission in Munich."

It added: "Units of the so-called Yugoslav Army, numbering 10,000, are scattered in Bavaria in the region occupied by the United States Third Army. The troops wear American uniforms, with the headgear and sleeve insignias of the old Yugoslav Army."

"In these units agitation is carried on for the restoration of the Monarchy in Yugoslavia and the destruction of Marshal Tito's regime."

"Many of these facts provoke perplexity in the circles of the democratic public."

Reuters Correspondent in Munich reported early in February that some 20,000 Poles and old Yugoslavs were serving in the United States Zone of Occupation, with the consent of the United States. The several thousand Yugoslav soldiers in Bavaria and adjacent provinces, it was claimed, were all prisoners of war of the Germans before the Americans came in.—Reuter.

Kowloon Incident
at Kowloon-tong for the Chinese Army, a certain number of Chinese troops were billeted in error on occupied civilian houses. "As soon as the position was explained to the Chinese military authorities concerned, the troops were withdrawn and as the number of Chinese troops in Kowloon waiting ships is greater than the special accommodation reserved for them, the Hong Kong Forces have made alternative arrangements to accommodate the remainder in military camps."

Tore Trees Down
A householder whose home was occupied by a large crowd of soldiers—in his case 50—told the "China Mail" that the first thing he knew was when the troops forced their way in. "Within a few minutes they had torn down trees in the garden and the whole house was upside down," he continued.

He sent for the police, who prevailed upon the soldiers to leave. Ten minutes after the police had left, however, the Chinese soldiers returned and forced the inmates of the house to open the door, threatening to shoot if they did not.

"I appealed to both the police and the British Army for help," he said. "They managed to get the soldiers out but every time our people left the Chinese came back. This happened three times."

Other householders told the "China Mail" that apart from being somewhat forceful in the way they occupied houses, the Chinese soldiers were not unkind and caused no incidents. They said they had had no food since they arrived and merely wanted a place to stay in "for a couple of days."

The 93rd Army, 32,000 strong, is expected to start moving from Hong Kong about Friday. It is being brought here from Wuchow via Canton and part of it went into barracks recently at Shumchun on the Chinese side of the border.

STOP PRESS
Tehran, Apr. 15.
The Iranian representative has been instructed to withdraw Iran's case from the Security Council immediately. This was announced here today by the Government spokesman. Prime Minister Mahmoud Foroughi said only a few hours before the UN Security Council was to meet in New York to discuss the matter.—Reuter.

Old Times To Play Again

London, Apr. 15.
Cricket enthusiasts visiting Kennington Oval on May 23 will rub their eyes in astonishment when the players take the field. Unbelievably they will see again such England stars as Harold Larwood, Herbert Sutcliffe, Maurice Tate and G. O. Allen in flannels and emerging from the dressing room.

They will not be dressing as the occasion will be a one-day fixture on the famous test match ground between giants of the past eleven and a Surrey XI in aid of the Surrey County's £100,000 centenary appeal.

The big question will be can Larwood, Allen and Tate produce enough pace and guile to get rid of the "youngsters."

Other oldtimers invited to emerge from retirement are Percy Fender, Donald Knight and Ted Brooks. All except Brooks are England players.

Jack Hobbs and Herbert Strudwick will probably umpire. About half a century is the average age of the veterans.—Reuter.

Not Exactly Neutral

Berne, Apr. 15.
Without the knowledge of their government, the C.-in-C. of the Swiss Army during the war and the head of the Intelligence Service, had talks in Switzerland with S.S. General Walter Schellenberg, the Swiss Government disclosed last night.

This statement follows an official inquiry into the relation between Brigadier-General Masson, Intelligence chief, and Schellenberg.

General Henri Guisan, then C.-in-C., consented to a meeting between Schellenberg and Masson. Later, he met Schellenberg himself.

Masson declared that his purpose was to remove German suspicions about Swiss neutrality.

He claimed that safe repatriation through Switzerland of General De Gaulle's niece and the family of General Giraud, who were held as hostages by the Nazis, was due to these talks.

Laurentis Wins Prix Juigne

Longchamps, Apr. 15.
The Prix Juigne for maiden 3-year-old colts, foaled and bred in France, was won here over a mile and a quarter today by Mlle Suzanne Yvetot's Laurentis, half length in front of Tobis Bouchere's Triplet, with Pat Joseph Midgeon's Hannibal, another three lengths behind, as third. The winner's time was 2 minutes 15.33 seconds.

The pari-mutuel paid 522 francs for ten to win, and 98, 30 and 76 for places. Laurentis was an outsider, and the favourites were never in the picture, though Marcel Bousac's Taranis was fifth.

Not until the final stretch did Laurentis take the lead, and then he kept on the heels to resist the challenge of Triplet, while Hannibal came up late to snatch third place.

Bousac had won the preceding race with Perlebas, and took the following one with Mielosa. Robert Beche rode Laurentis, which was trained by William Bates.—Reuter.
